“(2) A count of the number of students for whom the school has eligibility forms that comply with this section.

“(h) TIMING OF CHILD COUNTS.—For purposes of determining the number of children to be counted in calculating the amount of a local educational agency's grant under this subpart (other than in the case described in subsection (g)(1)), the local educational agency shall—

“(B) FUTURE DETERMINATIONS.—The Secretary shall not use the reduced amount of the agency's expenditures for the fiscal year preceding the fiscal year for which a waiver is granted to determine compliance with paragraph (1) for any succeeding fiscal year, but shall use the amount of expenditures that would have been required to comply with paragraph (1) in the absence of the waiver.

“(d) REALLOCATIONS.—The Secretary may reallocate, in a manner that the Secretary determines will best carry out the purpose of this subpart, any amounts that—

“PART B—NATIVE HAWAIIAN EDUCATION

“Congress finds the following:

“(1) Native Hawaiians are a distinct and unique indigenous people with a historical continuity to the original inhabitants of the Hawaiian archipelago, whose society was organized as a nation and internationally recognized as a nation by the United States, Britain, France, and Japan, as evidenced by treaties governing friendship, commerce, and navigation.

“(2) At the time of the arrival of the first non-indigenous people in Hawai‘i in 1778, the Native Hawaiian people lived in a highly organized, self-sufficient subsistence social system based on a communal land tenure system with a sophisticated language, culture, and religion.

“(3) A unified monarchical government of the Hawaiian Islands was established in 1810 under Kamehameha I, the first King of Hawai‘i.

“(4) From 1826 until 1893, the United States recognized the sovereignty and independence of the Kingdom of Hawai‘i, which was established in 1810 under Kamehameha I, extended full and complete diplomatic recognition to the Kingdom of Hawai‘i, and entered into treaties and conventions with the Kingdom of Hawai‘i to govern friendship, commerce and navigation in 1826, 1842, 1849, 1875, and 1887.

“(5) In 1893, the sovereign, independent, internationally recognized, and indigenous government of Hawai‘i, the Kingdom of Hawai‘i, was overthrown by a small group of non-Hawaiians, including United States citizens, who were assisted in their efforts by the United States Minister, a United States naval representative, and armed naval forces of the United States. Because of the participation of United States agents and citizens in the overthrow of the Kingdom of Hawai‘i, in 1893 the United States apologized to Native Hawaiians for the overthrow and the deprivation of the rights of Native Hawaiians to self-determination through Public Law 103–150 (107 Stat. 1510).

“(6) In 1898, the joint resolution entitled ‘Joint Resolution to provide for annexing the Hawaiian Islands to the United States’, approved July 7, 1898 (30 Stat. 750), ceded absolute title of all lands held by the Republic of Hawai‘i, including the government and crown lands of the former Kingdom of Hawai‘i, to the United States, but mandated that revenue generated from the lands be used ‘solely for the benefit of the inhabitants of the Hawaiian Islands for educational and other public purposes’.

“(7) By 1919, the Native Hawaiian population had declined from an estimated 1,000,000 in 1778 to an alarming 22,600, and in recognition of this severe decline, Congress enacted the Hawaiian Homes Commission Act, 1920 (42 Stat. 108), which designated approximately 200,000 acres of ceded public lands for homesteading by Native Hawaiians.

“(8) Through the enactment of the Hawaiian Homes Commission Act, 1920, Congress affirmed the special relationship between the United States and the Native Hawaiians, which was described by then Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane, who said: ‘One thing that impressed me . . . was the fact that the natives of the island who are our wards, I should say, and for whom in a sense we are trustees, are falling off rapidly in numbers and many of them are in poverty’.

“(9) In 1938, Congress again acknowledged the unique status of the Hawaiian people by including in the Act of June 20, 1938 (52 Stat. 781, chapter 530; 16 U.S.C. 391b, 391b–1, 392b, 392c, 396, 396a), a provision to lease lands within the National Parks extension to Native Hawaiians and to permit fishing in the area ‘only by native Hawaiian residents of said area or of adjacent villages and by visitors under their guidance.’

“(10) Under the Act entitled ‘An Act to provide for the admission of the State of Hawai‘i into the Union’, approved March 18, 1959 (73 Stat. 4), the United States transferred responsibility for the administration of the Hawaiian Home Lands to the State of Hawai‘i but reaffirmed the trust relationship between the United States and the Hawaiian people by retaining the exclusive power to enforce the trust, including the power to approve land exchanges and amendments to such Act affecting the rights of beneficiaries under such Act.

“(11) In 1959, under the Act entitled ‘An Act to provide for the admission of the State of Hawai‘i into the Union’, the United States also ceded to the State of Hawai‘i title to the public lands formerly held by the United States, but mandated that such lands be held by the State ‘in public trust’ and reaffirmed the special relationship that existed between the United States and the Hawaiian people by retaining the legal responsibility to enforce the public trust responsibility of the State of Hawai‘i for the betterment of the conditions of Native Hawaiians, as defined in section 201(a) of the Hawaiian Homes Commission Act, 1920.

“(12) The United States has recognized and reaffirmed that—

“(A) Native Hawaiians have a cultural, historic, and land-based link to the indigenous people who exercised sovereignty over the Hawaiian Islands, and that group has never relinquished its claims to sovereignty or its sovereign lands;

“(B) Congress does not extend services to Native Hawaiians because of their race, but because of their unique status as the indigenous people of a once sovereign nation as to whom the United States has established a trust relationship;

“(C) Congress has also delegated broad authority to administer a portion of the Federal trust responsibility to the State of Hawai‘i;

“(D) the political status of Native Hawaiians is comparable to that of American Indians and Alaska Natives; and “(E) the aboriginal, indigenous people of the United States have—

“(i) a continuing right to autonomy in their internal affairs; and “(ii) an ongoing right of self-determination and self-governance that has never been extinguished.

“(13) The political relationship between the United States and the Native Hawaiian people has been recognized and reaffirmed by the United States, as evidenced by the inclusion of Native Hawaiians in—

“(A) the Native American Programs Act of 1974 (42 U.S.C. 2991 et seq.);

“(B) the American Indian Religious Freedom Act (42 U.S.C. 1996);

“(C) the National Museum of the American Indian Act (20 U.S.C. 80q et seq.);

“(D) the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (25 U.S.C. 3001 et seq.);

“(E) the National Historic Preservation Act (16 U.S.C. 470 et seq.);

“(F) the Native American Languages Act (25 U.S.C. 2901 et seq.);

“(G) the American Indian, Alaska Native, and Native Hawaiian Culture and Art Development Act (20 U.S.C. 4401 et seq.);

“(H) the Workforce Investment Act of 1998 (29 U.S.C. 2801 et seq.); and

“(14) In 1981, Congress instructed the Office of Education to submit to Congress a comprehensive report on Native Hawaiian education. The report, entitled the ‘Native Hawaiian Educational Assessment Project’, was released in 1983 and documented that Native Hawaiians scored below parity with regard to national norms on standardized achievement tests, were disproportionately represented in many negative social and physical statistics indicative of special educational needs, and had educational needs that were related to their unique cultural situation, such as different learning styles and low self-image.

“(15) In recognition of the educational needs of Native Hawaiians, in 1988, Congress enacted title IV of the Augustus F. Hawkins-Robert T. Stafford Elementary and Secondary School Improvement Amendments of 1988 (102 Stat. 130) to authorize and develop supplemental educational programs to address the unique conditions of Native Hawaiians.

“(16) In 1993, the Kamehameha Schools Bishop Estate released a 10-year update of findings of the Native Hawaiian Educational Assessment Project, which found that despite the successes of the programs established under title IV of the Augustus F. Hawkins-Robert T. Stafford Elementary and Secondary School Improvement Amendments of 1988, many of the same educational needs still existed for Native Hawaiians. Subsequent reports by the Kamehameha Schools Bishop Estate and other organizations have generally confirmed those findings. For example—

“(A) educational risk factors continue to start even before birth for many Native Hawaiian children, including—

“(i) late or no prenatal care;

“(ii) high rates of births by Native Hawaiian women who are unmarried; and

“(iii) high rates of births to teenage parents;

“(B) Native Hawaiian students continue to begin their school experience lagging behind other students in terms of readiness factors such as vocabulary test scores;

“(C) Native Hawaiian students continue to score below national norms on standardized education achievement tests at all grade levels;

“(D) both public and private schools continue to show a pattern of lower percentages of Native Hawaiian students in the uppermost achievement levels and in gifted and talented programs;

“(E) Native Hawaiian students continue to be overrepresented among students qualifying for special education programs provided to students with learning disabilities, mild mental retardation, emotional impairment, and other such disabilities;

“(F) Native Hawaiians continue to be underrepresented in institutions of higher education and among adults who have completed 4 or more years of college;

“(G) Native Hawaiians continue to be disproportionately represented in many negative social and physical statistics indicative of special educational needs, as demonstrated by the fact that—

“(i) Native Hawaiian students are more likely to be retained in grade level and to be excessively absent in secondary school;

“(ii) Native Hawaiian students have the highest rates of drug and alcohol use in the State of Hawai‘i; and

“(iii) Native Hawaiian children continue to be disproportionately victimized by child abuse and neglect; and “(H) Native Hawaiians now comprise over 23 percent of the students served by the State of Hawai‘i Department of Education, and there are and will continue to be geographically rural, isolated areas with a high Native Hawaiian population density.

“(17) In the 1998 National Assessment of Educational Progress, Hawaiian fourth-graders ranked 39th among groups of students from 39 States in reading. Given that Hawaiian students rank among the lowest groups of students nationally in reading, and that Native Hawaiian students rank the lowest among Hawaiian students in reading, it is imperative that greater focus be placed on beginning reading and early education and literacy in Hawai‘i.

“(18) The findings described in paragraphs (16) and (17) are inconsistent with the high rates of literacy and integration of traditional culture and Western education historically achieved by Native Hawaiians through a Hawaiian language-based public school system established in 1840 by Kamehameha III.

“(19) Following the overthrow of the Kingdom of Hawai‘i in 1893, Hawaiian medium schools were banned. After annexation, throughout the territorial and statehood period of Hawai‘i, and until 1986, use of the Hawaiian language as an instructional medium in education in public schools was declared unlawful. The declaration caused incalculable harm to a culture that placed a very high value on the power of language, as exemplified in the traditional saying: ‘I ka ‘ōlelo nō ke ola; I ka ‘ōlelo nō ka make. In the language rests life; In the language rests death.’

“(20) Despite the consequences of over 100 years of nonindigenous influence, the Native Hawaiian people are determined to preserve, develop, and transmit to future generations their ancestral territory and their cultural identity in accordance with their own spiritual and traditional beliefs, customs, practices, language, and social institutions.

“(21) The State of Hawai‘i, in the constitution and statutes of the State of Hawai‘i—

“(A) reaffirms and protects the unique right of the Native Hawaiian people to practice and perpetuate their culture and religious customs, beliefs, practices, and language;

“(B) recognizes the traditional language of the Native Hawaiian people as an official language of the State of Hawai‘i, which may be used as the language of instruction for all subjects and grades in the public school system; and

“(C) promotes the study of the Hawaiian culture, language, and history by providing a Hawaiian education program and using community expertise as a suitable and essential means to further the program.

“PART C—ALASKA NATIVE EDUCATION

“Congress finds and declares the following:

“(1) The attainment of educational success is critical to the betterment of the conditions, long-term well-being, and preservation of the culture of Alaska Natives.

“(2) It is the policy of the Federal Government to encourage the maximum participation by Alaska Natives in the planning and the management of Alaska Native education programs.

“(4) The educational achievement of Alaska Native children is far below national norms. Native performance on standardized tests is low, Native student dropout rates are high, and Natives are significantly underrepresented among holders of baccalaureate degrees in the State of Alaska. As a result, Native students are being denied their opportunity to become full participants in society by grade school and high school educations that are condemning an entire generation to an underclass status and a life of limited choices.

“(5) The programs authorized in this part, combined with expanded Head Start, infant learning, and early childhood education programs, and parent education programs, are essential if educational handicaps are to be overcome.

“(6) The sheer magnitude of the geographic barriers to be overcome in delivering educational services in rural Alaska and Alaska villages should be addressed through the development and implementation of innovative, model programs in a variety of areas.

“(7) Native children should be afforded the opportunity to begin their formal education on a par with their non-Native peers. The Federal Government should lend support to efforts developed by and undertaken within the Alaska Native community to improve educational opportunity for all students.

“The purposes of this part are as follows:

In permitting the use of facilities under the preceding sentence, the Secretary may waive applicable minor standards under section 1121 relating to such facilities (such as the required number of exit lights or configuration of restrooms) so long as such waivers do not result in the creation of an environment that constitutes an immediate and substantial threat to the health, safety, and life of students and staff.

“(C) all operation, maintenance, and repair funds for facilities and government quarters used in the operation or support of elementary and secondary education functions for the benefit of Indians, from whatever source derived.

“(3) DIRECT COST BASE.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—Except as otherwise provided in subparagraph (B), the direct cost base of a tribe or tribal organization for the fiscal year is the aggregate direct cost program funding for all tribal elementary or secondary educational programs operated by the tribe or tribal organization during—

“(i) the second fiscal year preceding such fiscal year; or

“(ii) if such programs have not been operated by the tribe or tribal organization during the two preceding fiscal years, the first fiscal year preceding such fiscal year.

“(B) FUNCTIONS NOT PREVIOUSLY OPERATED.—In the case of Bureau elementary or secondary education functions which have not previously been operated by a tribe or tribal organization under contract, grant, or agreement with the Bureau, the direct cost base for the initial year shall be the projected aggregate direct cost program funding for all Bureau elementary and secondary functions to be operated by the tribe or tribal organization during that fiscal year.

“(4) MAXIMUM BASE RATE.—The term ‘maximum base rate’ means 50 percent.

“(5) MINIMUM BASE RATE.—The term ‘minimum base rate’ means 11 percent.

“(b) GRANTS; EFFECT UPON APPROPRIATED AMOUNTS.—

“(1) GRANTS.—Subject to the availability of funds, the Secretary shall provide grants to each tribe or tribal organization operating a contract school or grant school in the amount determined under this section with respect to the tribe or tribal organization for the purpose of paying the administrative and indirect costs incurred in operating contract or grant schools, provided that no school operated as a standalone institution shall receive less than $200,000 per year for these purposes, in order to—

“(A) enable tribes and tribal organizations operating such schools, without reducing direct program services to the beneficiaries of the program, to provide all related administrative overhead services and operations necessary to meet the requirements of law and prudent management practice; and

“(B) carry out other necessary support functions which would otherwise be provided by the Secretary or other Federal officers or employees, from resources other than direct program funds, in support of comparable Bureau-operated programs.

“(2) EFFECT UPON APPROPRIATED AMOUNTS.—Amounts appropriated to fund the grants provided under this section shall be in addition to, and shall not reduce, the amounts appropriated for the program being administered by the contract or grant school.

“(c) DETERMINATION OF GRANT AMOUNT.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—The amount of the grant provided to each tribe or tribal organization under this section for each fiscal year shall be determined by applying the administrative cost percentage rate of the tribe or tribal organization to the aggregate of the Bureau elementary and secondary functions operated by the tribe or tribal organization for which funds are received from or through the Bureau.

“(2) DIRECT COST BASE FUNDS.—The Secretary shall—

“(A) reduce the amount of the grant determined under paragraph (1) to the extent that payments for administrative costs are actually received by an Indian tribe or tribal organization under any Federal education program included in the direct cost base of the tribe or tribal organization; and

“(1) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of this section, the administrative cost percentage rate for a contract or grant school for a fiscal year is equal to the percentage determined by dividing—

“(A) the sum of—

“(I) the direct cost base of the tribe or tribal organization for the fiscal year, multiplied by

“(II) the minimum base rate; plus

“(ii) the amount equal to—

“(ii) the standard direct cost base.

“(2) ROUNDING.—The administrative cost percentage rate shall be determined to the $\frac{1}{100}$ of a decimal point.

“(3) APPLICABILITY.—The administrative cost percentage rate determined under this subsection shall not apply to other programs operated by the tribe or tribal organization.

“(e) COMBINING FUNDS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—Funds received by a tribe or contract or grant school as grants under this section for tribal elementary or secondary educational programs may be combined by the tribe or contract or grant school into a single administrative cost account without the necessity of maintaining separate funding source accounting.

“(2) INDIRECT COST FUNDS.—Indirect cost funds for programs at the school which share common administrative services with tribal elementary or secondary educational programs may be included in the administrative cost account described in paragraph (1).

“(f) AVAILABILITY OF FUNDS.—Funds received as grants under this section with respect to tribal elementary or secondary education programs shall remain available to the contract or grant school without fiscal year limitation and without diminishing the amount of any grants otherwise payable to the school under this section for any fiscal year beginning after the fiscal year for which the grant is provided.

“(g) TREATMENT OF FUNDS.—Funds received as grants under this section for Bureau-funded programs operated by a tribe or tribal organization under a contract or agreement shall not be taken into consideration for purposes of indirect cost underrecovery and overrecovery determinations by any Federal agency for any other funds, from whatever source derived.

“(h) TREATMENT OF ENTITY OPERATING OTHER PROGRAMS.—In applying this section and section 106 of the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act with respect to an Indian tribe or tribal organization that—

“(2) operates 1 or more other programs under a contract or grant provided under the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act, the Secretary shall ensure that the Indian tribe or tribal organization is provided with the full amount of the administrative costs that are associated with operating the contract or grant school, and of the indirect costs, that are associated with all of such other programs, except that funds appropriated for implementation of this section shall be used only to supply the amount of the grant required to be provided by this section.

“(i) STUDIES FOR DETERMINATION OF FACTORS AFFECTING COSTS; BASE RATES LIMITS; STANDARD DIRECT COST BASE; REPORT TO CONGRESS.—

“(1) STUDIES.—Not later than 120 days after the date of enactment of the Native American Education Improvement Act of 2001, the Director of the Office of Indian Education Programs shall—

“(A) conduct such studies as may be needed to establish an empirical basis for determining relevant factors substantially affecting required administrative costs of tribal elementary and secondary education programs, using the formula set forth in subsection (c); and

“(B) conduct a study to determine—

“(i) a maximum base rate which ensures that the amount of the grants provided under this section will provide adequate (but not excessive) funding of the administrative costs of the smallest tribal elementary or secondary educational programs;

“(ii) a minimum base rate which ensures that the amount of the grants provided under this section will provide adequate (but not excessive) funding of the administrative costs of the largest tribal elementary or secondary educational programs; and

“(iii) a standard direct cost base which is the aggregate direct cost funding level for which the percentage determined under subsection (d) will—

“(I) be equal to the median between the maximum base rate and the minimum base rate; and “(II) ensure that the amount of the grants provided under this section will provide adequate (but not excessive) funding of the administrative costs of tribal elementary or secondary educational programs closest to the size of the program.

“(2) GUIDELINES.—The studies required under paragraph (1) shall—

“(A) be conducted in full consultation (in accordance with section 1131) with—

“(C) take into account the availability of skilled labor commodities, business and automatic data processing services, related Indian preference and Indian control of education requirements, and any other market factors found to substantially affect the administrative costs and efficiency of each such tribal elementary or secondary educational program studied in order to ensure that all required administrative activities can reasonably be delivered in a cost effective manner for each such program, given an administrative cost allowance generated by the values, percentages, or other factors found in the studies to be relevant in such formula;

“(D) identify, and quantify in terms of percentages of direct program costs, any general factors arising from geographic isolation, or numbers of programs administered, independent of program size factors used to compute a base administrative cost percentage in such formula; and

“(E) identify any other incremental cost factors substantially affecting the costs of required administrative cost functions at any of the tribal elementary or secondary educational programs studied and determine whether the factors are of general applicability to other such programs, and (if so) how the factors may effectively be incorporated into such formula.

“(4) CONSIDERATION OF DELIVERY OF ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES.—Determinations described in paragraph (2)(C) shall be based on what is practicable at each location studied, given prudent management practice, irrespective of whether required administrative services were actually or fully delivered at these sites, or whether other services were delivered instead, during the period of the study.

“(5) REPORT.—Upon completion of the studies conducted under paragraph (1), the Director shall submit to Congress a report on the findings of the studies, together with determinations based upon such studies that would affect the definitions set forth under subsection (e) that are used in the formula set forth in subsection (c).

“(6) PROJECTION OF COSTS.—The Secretary shall include in the Bureau's justification for each appropriations request beginning in the first fiscal year after the completion of the studies conducted under paragraph (1), a projection of the overall costs associated with the formula set forth in subsection (c) for all tribal elementary or secondary education programs which the Secretary expects to be funded in the fiscal year for which the appropriations are sought.

“(7) DETERMINATION OF PROGRAM SIZE.—For purposes of this subsection, the size of tribal elementary or secondary educational programs is determined by the aggregate direct cost program funding level for all Bureau-funded programs which share common administrative cost functions.

“(j) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section such sums as may be necessary.

“(2) REDUCTIONS.—If the total amount of funds necessary to provide grants to tribes and tribal organizations in the amounts determined under subsection (c) for a fiscal year exceeds the amount of funds appropriated to carry out this section for such fiscal year, the Secretary shall reduce the amount of each grant determined under subsection (c) for such fiscal year by an amount that bears the same relationship to such excess as the amount of such grants determined under subsection (c) bears to the total of all grants determined under subsection (c) section for all tribes and tribal organizations for such fiscal year.

JOINT EXPLANATORY STATEMENT OF THE COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

The managers on the part of the House and the Senate at the conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the Senate to the bill, (H.R. 1), to close the achievement gap with accountability, flexibility, and choice, so that no child is left behind, submit the following joint statement to the House and the Senate in explanation of the effect to the action agreed upon by the managers and recommended in the accompanying conference report:

The Senate amendment struck all of the text of the House bill after the enacting clause and inserted a substitute text.

The House recedes from its disagreement to all of the amendment of the Senate with an amendment that is a substitute for the House bill and the Senate amendment. The differences between the House bill, the Senate amendment, and the substitute agreed to in conference are noted below, except for clerical corrections, conforming changes made necessary by agreements reached by the conferees, and minor drafting and clerical changes.

Title I, Part A, Subpart 2 (Formula)

*Note: The side-by-sides were numbered wrong, so these notes have been re-numbered. To correlate these notes with your side-by-side, add 15 to the side-by-side note number to get these re-numbered notes.

501. The House bill and the Senate amendment are substantially the same with exception of technical differences.

LC

502. Both bills provide assistance to the outlying areas. The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, provides assistance to the outlying areas in accordance with such criteria as the Secretary determines will best carry out the purpose of this part.

LC—conform to note 504.

503. The House bill and the Senate amendment are substantially the same except the Senate amendment clarifies that grants are specifically to local educational agencies.

HR

504. Both the House bill and the Senate amendment authorize a competition for grants. The House bill authorizes the competition for FY2002 and FY2003, while the Senate amendment authorizes the competition for FY2002 and each of the 6 succeeding fiscal years. The House bill and the Senate amendment have two different ways of referring to the $5 million reserved for the Freely Associated States. The Senate amendment authorizes the Secretary to reserve $5 million for the competitive grants from funds under subsection (a)(1), for the Freely Associated States. The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, caps the reservation at the level reserved for the Freely Associated

States in FY1999, which was $5 million. The House bill directs the Secretary to make competitive grant awards pursuant to the recommendations of the Pacific Region Educational Laboratory while the Senate amendment allows the Secretary to award grants "taking into consideration" the recommendations of the Pacific Region Educational Laboratory. The House bill provides for competitive grants to outlying areas and Freely Associated States while the Senate amendment includes only the Freely Associated States.

HR with amendment to strike "For fiscal year 2002, and each of the 6 succeeding fiscal years" and insert "Until an agreement for the extension of United States education assistance under the Compact of Free Association for each appropriate outlying area enters into effect after the date of enactment of this Act."

505. The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, provides that funds may only be used for specified purposes under this paragraph.

HR with an amendment to insert "that assist all students with meeting challenging State academic content standards" after "to provide direct educational services" in (ii).

506. The House bill and the Senate amendment both permit the Secretary to provide 5 percent of the amount reserved for grants under this paragraph to the Pacific Region Educational Laboratory for pay for administrative costs. There are minor technical differences in wording.

SR

507. The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, includes a special rule whereby, consolidation authority under P.L. 95-134 does not apply with respect to these funds.

SR

508. The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, includes definitions of "Freely Associated States" and "Outlying Area" for purposes of subsection (a) and (b). See also note 29 in Title VIII's General Provisions regarding definitions of these words. See also note 507 following.

LC—conform and put in Title VIII

509. The House bill and the Senate amendment are identical, except the House bill uses the word "allotted" while the Senate amendment uses the word "reserved."

SR

510. The House bill and the Senate amendment are identical, except the House bill uses the word "allotted" while the Senate amendment uses the word "reserved."

SR

511. The House bill and the Senate amendment are substantially the same, except the House bill refers to FY2002–FY2006 while the Senate amendment refers to FY2002–FY2008. The House bill refers to amounts "equal to" the amount appropriated to carry out section 1124 while the Senate amendment refers to amounts "less than or equal to" the amount appropriated to carry out section 1124. In effect, the House bill and Senate amendment are the same, as long as appropriations are at or above the FY2001 level.

SR with an amendment to strike "2006" and insert "2007".

512. The Senate amendment refers to amounts appropriated that are not used under paragraph (1) while the House bill does not have a similar clause.

SR

513. The House bill allocates funds under section 1125 according to the extent to which the amount appropriated under 1002(a) for the current fiscal year exceeds the amount appropriated for fiscal year 2001. The Senate amendment allocates funds in accordance with section 1125 for which a determination is made that funds are not used to carry out paragraphs (1) and (2). In effect, the House bill and Senate amendment are the same.

SR

514. The House bill and Senate amendment have identical provisions on ratable reductions.

LC

515. The House bill includes a hold harmless provision for sections 1124 and 1125 together, with a separate provision for section 1124A. The Senate amendment includes a hold harmless for sections 1124, 1124A and 1125 as one provision. The House bill provides for basic and targeted grants a hold harmless of 95 percent, 90 percent and 85 percent based on ranges of percentages of poor children in LEAs, while the Senate amendment provides, for basic, concentration, and targeted grants, a hold harmless based on the greater of 100% of what a district received for 2001 or the amount the district would have received under the statutory formula without applying any hold harmless. Under the House bill, the hold harmless provisions apply separately to each formula, as opposed to being applied to total grants under all three formulas. The Senate amendment applies to the FY2001 grant amount for each year, not to the previous year's grant amount, as in the House bill.

SR

516. The House bill, but not the Senate amendment provides for an 85 percent hold harmless for section 1124A (concentration) grants. Compare to Senate provision above.

SR with an amendment—apply according to district poverty level a sliding scale hold harmless of 85 percent to 95 percent of previous year's grant to basic, concentration, and targeted formulas, separately.

519. The House bill, and the Senate amendment contain the same provision (see section 1122(c)(3) of the Senate amendment), which provides a special rule for addressing situations where allocations for counties are insufficient to meet the hold harmless requirements for every local educational agency within that county. 520. The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, requires the Secretary of Education to use updated population data published by the Department of Commerce for purposes of carrying out grants under section 1124, unless the Secretary of Education and the Secretary of Commerce determine the use of the updated population data would be inappropriate or unreliable. The Senate amendment also includes provisions relating to inappropriate or unreliable data, poverty criteria, authorizations of appropriations, special rules, and calculations based on population data for counties. The Senate amendment provides for the use of population updates annually, rather than every second year, as under the House bill.

Report Language:

The Conferees strongly urge the Department of Education and the Department of Commerce to work collaboratively to produce annually updated data on the number of poor children as soon as possible, but not later than March 2003. The conferees believe it is imperative that the departments use annually updated data as produced by the Department of Commerce, as provided for in the Conference agreement. The Conferees recognize that additional resources will likely be necessary to produce annually updated data and therefore expect the Departments of Commerce and Education to submit budget requests that reflect the efforts that will be necessary to carry out this new responsibility.

“The purpose of this title is to ensure all children have a fair, equal and significant opportunity to obtain a high quality education and reach, at a minimum, proficiency on challenging state academic achievement standards and state academic assessments. This purpose can be accomplished by—

“(1) ensuring high quality academic assessments, accountability systems, teacher preparation and training, curriculum, and instructional materials are aligned with challenging State academic standards so that students, teachers, parents, and administrators can measure progress against common expectations for student academic achievement;

“(2) meeting the educational needs of low-achieving children in our Nation’s highest-poverty schools, limited English proficient children, migratory children, disabled children, Indian children, neglected or delinquent children, and young children in need of reading assistance;

“(5) distributing and targeting resources sufficiently to make a difference to local educational agencies and schools where needs are greatest;

“(6) improving and strengthening accountability, teaching, and learning by using State assessment systems designed to ensure students are meeting challenging State academic achievement and content standards and increasing achievement overall, but especially for the disadvantaged;

“(7) providing greater decision making authority and flexibility to schools and teachers in exchange for greater responsibility for student performance;

“(8) providing children an enriched and accelerated educational program, including the use of schoolwide programs or additional services that increase the amount and quality of instructional time;

“(9) promoting schoolwide reform and ensuring access of children to effective, scientifically-based instructional strategies and challenging academic content;

“(D) $20,500,000,000 for fiscal year 2005;

“(E) $22,750,000,000 for fiscal year 2006;

“(F) $25,000,000,000 for fiscal year 2007.”

Report Language:

The Conferees recognize that Title I grants to local educational agencies are essential to provide low-income students with the resources they need to meet challenging State academic achievement standards. The Conferees further recognize that to implement fully the reforms incorporated in the conference agreement, the local educational agencies will require increased Title I resources, for which reason the Conferees have agreed to significant and annual increases in Title I authorizations.

According to the Congressional Research Service, one common interpretation of the “full funding” theory for Title I, part A is based on the maximum payment calculations under the Basic Grant allocation formula, which is one of the four Title I, part A formulas. The Basic Grant formula establishes a maximum payment based on the number of low-income children (and other children that qualify for services under other Title I programs) multiplied by a State expenditure factor. The State expenditure factor for the Basic Grant formula is the State average expenditure per pupil in average daily attendance for public elementary and secondary education, within the range of 80% to 120% of the national average. The 80%–120% range means that if the State average expenditure per pupil is less than 80% of the national average, it is raised to 80%, and if it is above 120%, it is reduced to 120%. Under this theory, for fiscal year 2001, Congress provided local educational agencies with roughly 1/3 of “full funding.”

The Conferees also note there are other theories that might be used to determine “full funding” of Title I, part A, to ensure that the maximum number of low-income, low-achieving children receive direct educational assistance.

The Conferees wish to emphasize that the conference agreement provides for significantly increased and targeted funding for Title I, part A, and strongly encourage Congress to continue to significantly increase funding for Title I, part A. Such funding, in conjunction with the significant reforms in the conference agreement, is critical to helping schools close the achievement gap and low-income students achieve and succeed academically.”

30. The Senate amendment retains the State administration reservation of 1% of programs through a redesignation of Part F of current law, with significant differences between the House bill and the Senate amendment. The House bill limits State administration to 1% of the State's allocation for FY 01, while the Senate amendment limits it to 1% of each fiscal year's allocation. In addition, the House bill refers to “administrative duties assigned”, while the Senate amendment refers to “proper and efficient performance of its duties”. 32. The House bill requires the State to reserve 1% of the part A, subpart 2 amount for FY 02 and FY 03, and 3% of the part A, subpart 2 amount for FY 04 through FY 06. The Senate amendment requires the State to reserve 3.5% of the part A, subpart 2 amount for FY 02 and FY 03, and 5% of the part A, subpart 2 amount for FY 04 through FY 08. Otherwise the House bill and Senate amendment are similar.

The House bill and the Senate amendment are similar with the following exceptions: (1) The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, refers to “bonuses or recognition”; (2) The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, refers to “public” schools; and (3) The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, holds LEAs and schools accountable for student achievement and performance.

SR with an amendment to strike “rewards and sanctions” and insert “sanctions and rewards, such as bonuses or recognition”.

HR

61. The House bill and the Senate amendment are similar with the exceptions that the House bill provides an exception to the required disaggregation of data which the Senate amendment also does in clause (v)(II)

(see note 63), and the House bill refers to “numerical objectives”, while the Senate amendment refers to “measurable objectives”.

SR with amendment to strike “annual numerical” and insert “measurable”

62. See note 50 regarding public school students.

SR

63. The Senate amendment contains two more groups than the House bill: “migrant students” and “students by gender”. However, see note 72 regarding the Senate amendment provision in subparagraph (D)(i)(II). In addition, the House bill, but not the Senate amendment, refers to “major” racial and ethnic groups. Also, see note 61 regarding the exception to the disaggregation of data.

SR

64. The Senate amendment does not contain a similar provision.

HR

65. The Senate does not contain a similar provision. However, see the Senate amendment provision in subparagraph (B)(vii) regarding high school completion and the exception regarding the inclusion of such factors not affecting school identification for school improvement or corrective action (under section 1116 of each piece of legislation). In addition, the House allows for these additional indicators to be discretionary, while the Senate amendment requires high school completion / graduation and one other factor as mandatory.

SR with amendment to strike clause (v) and insert:

“(v) at the State’s discretion, may also include other academic indicators such as achievement on additional State or local academic assessments, decreases in grade-to-grade retention rates, attendance rates, and changes in the percentages of students from the subgroups described in [(C)(v)(ii)] completing gifted and talented, advanced placement, and college preparatory courses, except the use of such indicators may not be used to reduce the number or change which schools would otherwise be subject to school improvement, corrective action, or restructuring under section 1116 if such additional indicators were not used, but may be used to identify additional schools for school improvement or in need of corrective action or restructuring.”

And with amendment to add a special rule that these indicators and those referenced at note 67 shall be consistent with nationally recognized professional standards.

66. Both the House bill and the Senate amendment require the State to establish a timeline by which the groups of students identified by each piece of legislation (see note 63) shall meet or exceed the State’s proficient level on the State assessments used under this section and section 1116 of each piece of legislation. However, there are several major differences: (1) The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, establishes a baseline year by which to establish the timeline, which is the first year after enactment; (2) The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, requires a target year to get all groups of students to proficiency that is not to exceed 12 years after the baseline year is established; (3) The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, requires all groups of students to obtain proficiency in 10 years or less after enactment; and (4) See note 50 regarding academic assessments.

SR

67. See notes 60 and 65.

HR with amendment to strike “school completion or” and to strike “except that . . . in cluded” and replace with: “except the use of such indicators may not be used to reduce the number or change which schools would otherwise be subject to school improvement, corrective action, or restructuring under section 1116 if such additional indicators were not used, but may be used to identify additional schools for school improvement or in need of corrective action or restructuring.”

Report Language:

The Conferees intend that adequate yearly progress shall not be met or exceeded based solely on increased dropouts.

68. The Senate amendment does not contain a similar provision.

HR with amendment to insert that a State must establish a statutory minimum starting point based on each State’s lowest achieving subgroup or the bottom quintile of the total student population in the State, whichever is higher, and that States must raise the “bar” at least once every three years in equal increments to reach 100% proficiency in 12 years, except the bar may remain the same for the first 2 years.

69. The House bill does not contain a similar provision.

SR with amendment to insert a significant progress exemption where the subgroup not meeting adequate yearly progress make a 10% reduction in the percentage of students in that subgroup who are not proficient and progress on one other academic indicator would allow a school to avoid being identified to have met AYP.

70. The House bill and the Senate amendment are similar with minor wording differences and the following exceptions: (1) See note 63 regarding the differences in groups of students between each piece of legislation; (2) Technical differences in cross-references regarding accommodations for students with disabilities; and (3) The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, contains an exception that this provision shall not abrogate the requirement to assess all students.

SR with amendment to insert: “with paragraph [(4)(H)(ii)] [House reference]/(3)(I)(ii) [Senate reference]] and with accommodations, guidelines, and alternate assessments provided in the same manner as they are provided under” after “consistent” and to strike “with” before “section 612(a)(17)(A)” and to insert at the end after “based” the following: “(except that the 95 percent requirement described in this subparagraph shall not be required in a case in which the number of students in a category is insufficient to yield statistically reliable information or the results would reveal individually identifiable information about an individual student).”

71. The House bill does not contain a similar provision.

SR

72. The Senate amendment reduces the groups of students (see note 63) that must make at least 1% gain in the percentage of students meeting the proficient level of performance. Consequently, the composition of the required groups that must be making progress to proficiency under the House bill and the Senate amendment are the same.

SR

73. The House bill does not contain a similar provision.

HR with amendment to add a new clause:

(#—LC) “the State, in establishing the uniform procedure for averaging data with the previous 1 or 2 school years preceding the school year for which the determination of meeting or exceeding adequate yearly progress is made, consistent with clause [(ii)], may use the academic assessments described in paragraph [(2)]—conform with grade span assessment reference] that were required prior to the date of enactment of this Act until such time as the additional assessments described in paragraph [(2)—conform with 3-8 assessment reference] and required under this Act are being administered in such manner and time as to allow for the uniform procedure for averaging data described in clause [(ii)].”

74. The House bill and the Senate amendment are substantially similar with the exception that the Senate amendment, but not the House bill, lists specific groups the State must seek comment from. In addition, there are some minor wording differences.

77. The House bill does not contain a similar provision.

HR with an amendment to strike subparagraph (H) and insert the following as a new subparagraph (H):

“(H) The accountability provisions under this Act shall be overseen for charter schools in accordance with State charter school law.”

Report Language:

“Charter schools are public schools and therefore subject to the same accountability requirements of this Act as they apply to other public schools, including Sections 1111 and 1116, as developed in each state. However, there is no intent to replace or duplicate the role of authorized chartering agencies, as established under each state’s charter school law, in overseeing the Act’s accountability requirements for the charter schools that they authorize. Authorized chartering agencies should be held accountable for carrying out their oversight responsibilities as determined by each state through its charter school law and other applicable state laws. This should be done in ways that do not inhibit or discourage the approval or oversight of innovative, high quality charter schools.”

78. The House bill and the Senate amendment are similar with following exceptions: (1) The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, refers to the State implementing a set of assessments; (2) The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, refers to consultation with LEAs in the assessment plan; (3) The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, requires science assessments, but provides an exception that such assessments shall not be required until the 2007-2008 school year; (4) The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, refers to the yearly performance progress of the State; (5) The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, refers to “challenging” standards; and (6) See notes 40 and 50 regarding references to standards and assessments.

SR with an amendment to:

Insert “in consultation with local educational agencies,” after “that the State”, insert “and science” after “language arts”, insert after “achievement standards” and before the period the following: “except that no State shall be required to meet the requirements of this part relating to science assessments until the beginning of the 2007-2008 school year”.

Insert before “Such assessments shall—” the following language:

“Each State may incorporate the data from these assessments into a state-developed longitudinal data system that links student test scores, length of enrollment, and graduation records over time.”

LC regarding references to standards and assessments.

Report Language:

“The Conferees are aware of, and encouraged by, initiatives undertaken in some States to enable parents and others to compare the progress of students, classrooms and schools on a longitudinal basis. The Conferees wish to make clear that States may incorporate the data from the assessments required under this subsection into a state-developed longitudinal data system that links students’ test scores, length of enrollment, and graduation records over time. Such systems may enable policymakers, educators, and parents to better evaluate the success of schools by reporting on the achievement of students enrolled in the same school for at least three years.”

“The Conferees recognize that a quality science education should prepare students to distinguish the data and testable theories of science from religious or philosophical claims that are made in the name of science. Where topics are taught that may generate controversy (such as biological evolution), the curriculum should help students to understand the full range of scientific views that exist, why such topics may generate controversy, and how scientific discoveries can profoundly affect society.”

79. The House bill and the Senate amendment are the same with the exception indicated in note 40 regarding references to standards.

LC

80. The House bill and the Senate amendment are similar with the following exception: The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, refers to “nationally” recognized standards of testing that are developed and used by “national experts on educational testing”.

82. The House bill does not contain a similar provision.

HR with an amendment to insert after “Act,” the words “and are consistent with the requirements of this section.”

The Senate amendment requires assessments to commence not later than the 01-02 school year for students served under Title I, part A in mathematics and reading or language arts at least once in the grade spans listed.

SR with an amendment:

“(E)(i) except as otherwise provided for grades 3 through 8 under subparagraph [(G)], measure the proficiency of students in, at a minimum, mathematics and reading or language arts, and be administered not less than once during—

“(I) grades 3 through 5;

“(II) grades 6 through 9; and

HR with an amendment to strike “performance” and insert “academic achievement”.

87. The House bill requires assessments in the 04-05 school year in each of the grades 3 through 8 in at least mathematics and reading or language arts. The Senate amendment requires assessments in the 05-06 school year annually in grades 3 through 8 and at least once in the grade span of 10-12, in at least mathematics and reading or language arts, if the tests are aligned with State standards. (The House bill contains a similar requirement for an assessment at least once in the grade span of 10-12 in at least mathematics and reading or language arts in paragraph (4)(E).) See notes 40 and 50 regarding references to standards and assessments. In addition, the House bill and the Senate amendment allow for a delay in assessment implementation with the following exceptions: (1) The House bill provides for a one-year delay after the 04-05 school year if the assessment will be implemented after that one-year delay, while the Senate amendment provides for the assessments to be delayed from the 05-06 school year to the 06-07 school year if the assessments will be implemented in the 06-07 school year.; and (2) The House bill refers to the financial resources of the State, while the Senate amendment refers to the financial resources of the LEA or school.

SR with an amendment to strike “2004-2005” and replace with “2005-2006”.

assessments in the language and form most likely to yield accurate data on what such students know and can do in academic content areas, until such students have achieved English language proficiency as determined under paragraph (7).

91. The House bill and the Senate amendment are similar with the following exceptions: (1) The House bill allows LEAs to determine if students should be assessed in the appropriate language (as opposed to English) and then assess such students in the appropriate language for one additional year; (2) The Senate amendment allows LEAs to demonstrate to the SEA if students should be assessed in the appropriate language (as opposed to English) and the SEA to permit such students to be assessed in the appropriate language for one or more additional years contingent upon the exception described.

HR/SR with an amendment to strike clause (iv) and insert as a new clause (iv):

“(iv) notwithstanding clause (iii), the academic assessment (using tests written in English) of reading or language arts of any student who has attended school in the United States (not including Puerto Rico) for 3 or more consecutive school years, except if the local educational agency determines, on a case-by-case individual basis, that academic assessments in another language or form would likely yield more accurate and reliable information on what such students know and can do, the local educational agency may make a determination to assess such students in the appropriate language other than English for a period that does not exceed 2 additional consecutive years, provided that such student has not yet reached a level of English language proficiency sufficient to yield valid and reliable information on what such student knows and can do on tests (written in English) of reading or language arts.”

LC

93. 94. The House bill and the Senate amendment are substantially similar with the exception that the Senate amendment, but not the House bill, provides for an exception to the disaggregation.

HR with an amendment to insert “major” before “racial and ethnic group,”

95. The Senate amendment does not contain a similar provision.

SR with amendment to strike (L) and insert as a new subparagraph (L):

“(N) be consistent with widely accepted professional testing standards, objectively measure academic achievement, knowledge and skills, and be tests that do not evaluate or assess personal or family beliefs and attitudes, or publicly disclose personally identifiable information;”

Report language:

The Conferees wish to clarify that this provision does not prohibit the use of essay, extended response, or short answer test items, nor does it prohibit the use of test items which require a student to analyze a passage of text or to express opinions, provided that such test items are developed consistent with widely accepted professional testing standards.

96. The House bill does not contain a similar provision.

HR with amendment to strike subparagraph (N) and insert:

“(N) enable itemized score analysis to be produced and reported, consistent with 1111[(b)(3)(C)]—(nationally recognized professional standards reference)], to local educational agencies and schools, so that parents, teachers, principals and administrators can interpret and address the specific academic needs of students as indicated by the students’ achievement on assessment items.”

Report Language:

“In providing for itemized score analysis, the Conferees intend for data to be presented in a format which parents, teachers and schools can understand. Providing parents, teachers and schools with clear and technology-viable access to both scores and scoring procedures is one of the best strategies to ensure that mistakes that do occur are both identified and corrected in an expedient manner. In developing their State academic assessment systems, States should also consider and address the issue of sufficient assessment transparency and accessibility in order to protect the ability of students, parents, teachers and school administrators to gain access to test results and testing methodologies.”

97. The House bill and the Senate amendment are similar in that they do not allow additional assessment measures to take the place of those assessments required in paragraph (4) of the House bill or paragraph (3) of the Senate amendment. Report language:

“This Act requires each State to provide for annual English language proficiency assessments (covering speaking, listening, reading and writing skills) by the beginning of the 2002–2003 school year. The Conferees believe that additional scientifically-based research efforts must be made to develop better assessments to measure the progress of limited English proficient children in developing their English language proficiency, including speaking, listening, reading and writing skills. Report Language:

The Conferees intend that reporting of graduation rates described in clause (vi) shall be determined by reporting the percentage of students who graduate from high school with a regular diploma (not an alternative degree that may not be fully aligned with State academic standards, such as a certificate or GED), on time (within four years of starting the ninth grade for high schools that begin with the ninth grade or within the standard number of years for high schools that begin with another grade). The approach used to calculate graduation rates must also avoid counting dropouts as transfers. States that have or could have a more accurate longitudinal system that follows individual student progress through high school may use that system if approved by the Secretary as part of the State's Title I plan.

The Conferees intend that in addition to reporting graduation rates for secondary schools that for those districts that define secondary school as including grades 6, 7 or 8, data should be reported on student progress from that entry grade level through twelfth grade with particular attention placed on the transition point between eighth and ninth grade.

HR/SR with amendment:

(#—LC) SUPPLEMENTAL EDUCATIONAL SERVICES.—

(1) In the case of any school described in subsection [2nd year of school improvement, corrective action, or restructuring], the local educational agency serving such school shall, subject to subparagraphs [(B) through (E)], arrange for the provision of supplemental services to eligible children in the school from a provider with a demonstrated record of effectiveness, selected by the parents and approved for that purpose by the State educational agency in accordance with reasonable criteria that it shall adopt."

(i) the availability of services under this subsection;

(ii) the approved providers of those services that are within the school district served by the agency or whose services are reasonably available in neighboring school districts; and (iii) a brief description of the services, qualifications, and demonstrated effectiveness of each such provider;

(B) if requested, assist parents to choose a provider from the list of approved providers maintained by the State;

(C) apply fair and equitable procedures for serving students if spaces at approved providers are not sufficient to serve all students;

(D) not disclose to the public the identity of any student eligible for, or receiving, supplemental services under this subsection without the written permission of the parents of the student.

(E) AGREEMENT.—In the case of the selection of a provider by a parent, the local educational agency shall enter into an agreement with such provider. Such agreement shall—

(i) require the local educational agency to develop, with parents (and the provider they have chosen), a statement of specific performance goals for the student, how the student's progress will be measured, and a timetable for improving achievement that, in the case of a student with disabilities, is consistent with the student's individualized education program under section 614(d) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act;

However, the Senate amendment, but not the House bill, adds the word "objective" before "criteria". In addition, the Senate amendment, but not the House bill, specifically references standards developed pursuant to section 1111 of Title I, while the House bill references these standards in paragraph (d)(1) and generally in subparagraph (d)(6)(B).

HR/SR with amendment to strike language (see note 380)

The House bill defines "per child allocation" in subparagraph (d)(10)(D). The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, establishes the maximum amount a LEA shall pay for supplemental services for each child receiving services as either the LEA's Title I, part A, subpart 2 allocation divided by the number of low-income students in the district, or the actual cost of the services received, whichever is less.

Report Language:

In the 2000 rate case, the U.S. Postal Service levied an 18% increase on mail sent under Bound Printed Matter (BPM), the class of mail under which books are sent to our nation's schools, libraries, literacy, and early childhood programs. This increase, the highest of any category, has had a direct impact on the ability of several literacy and free book programs to deliver their services. It has come to the attention of the Conferees that the U.S. Postal Service intends to again increase the rates charged for bound printed matter, including books. Given the educational importance of the 100 million books shipped to children annually under this rate, the Conferees urge the U.S. Postal Service and Congress to take action to ensure the continued affordability of books for all of America's children.

Title I, Part C—Education of Migratory Children

1. The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, amends the program purpose by adding two paragraphs that state that: (1) Migrant students should not be penalized because of differences between states in curriculum, graduation requirements and standards; and (2) Migrant students have the same opportunities as all children to meet academic achievement and content standards.

HR

2. The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, modifies the formula for distributing funds to the States by basing a State's child count on the number of eligible children, aged 3 through 21, residing in the State during the previous year, plus the number of children who received services in summer or intersession programs provided by the State. Only funding above the amount appropriated for fiscal year 2002 will be distributed via the new formula.

SR with an amendment to require the Secretary to take into account the amount of time children spend in a particular program.

“In changing the formula which allocates funds to the States for migrant education programs, the Conferees are concerned that some children could be double counted, thereby inaccurately inflating allocations to some States. To address this situation, the Conferees have amended section 1303 (e) to require the Secretary to develop a procedure to take into account the amount of time a child may spend in a particular program. The Conferees strongly encourage the Secretary to develop such a procedure and utilize it when making allocations to the States.”

3. The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, sets and annually increases the minimum allocation amounts for Puerto Rico.

SR with an amendment to retain subsection (d).

4. The House bill and the Senate amendment eliminate the reference to a comprehensive plan and replace it with language to ensure migrant children are provided with the full range of services from all applicable government programs and that coordination will take place between the various levels of government programs, including the federal ESEA Title III program.

SR

5. The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, requires the integration of services under the Migrant education program with other programs, and adds a requirement for measurable program goals and outcomes.

SR

6. The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, modifies the manner in which subgrants to LEAs must be allocated.

HR

10. The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, eliminates the requirement that States develop both a comprehensive service delivery plan and a program application.

HR

11. The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, places conditions on whether States may submit consolidated applications.

HR

12. The House bill does not have the Senate provision regarding special education needs of migrant students.

HR

13. The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, changes current law to clarify State flexibility in determining the activities to be provided as long as funds are first used to meet the identified educational needs of migrant children.

SR with an amendment to add “where applicable” in (a) (1) in first sentence after “agency”.

14. The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, requires the Secretary of Education to assist States in developing effective methods to transfer student records and in determining the number of migrant children in each State. Under the House bill, the Secretary is also required to work with States to determine the minimum data elements for records to be maintained and transferred and to assist States in linking their records systems for electronic maintenance and transfer.

HR/SR with an amendment to Sec. 124. Coordination of Migrant Education Activities:

“(a) DURATION.—Section 1308 (a) (2) [20 U.S.C. 6398 (a) (2)] is amended by striking “subpart” and inserting “subsection”.

“(b) STUDENT RECORDS.—Section 1308 (b) (20 U.S.C. 6398 (b)) is amended to read as follows:

“(b) STUDENT RECORDS.—

“(1) ASSISTANCE.—The Secretary shall assist States in developing effective methods for the electronic transfer of student records and in determining the number of migratory children in each State.”

15. The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, requires the Secretary to establish a system for electronically transferring student records and lists possible data elements.

HR/SR with an amendment:

“(2) INFORMATION SYSTEM.—(A) The Secretary, in consultation with the States, shall ensure the linkage of migrant student record systems for the purpose of electronically exchanging, among the States, health and educational information regarding all migrant students. The Secretary shall ensure such linkage in a cost-effective manner, utilizing systems used by the States prior to, or developed after, the date of enactment of [this Act], and shall determine the minimum data elements that each State receiving funds under this part shall collect and maintain. Such elements may include—

“(i) immunization records and other health information;

“(ii) elementary and secondary academic history (including partial credit), credit accrual, and results from State assessments required under this title;

“(iii) other academic information essential to ensuring that migrant children achieve to high standards; and

“(iv) eligibility for services under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act. Ensuring the timely exchange of important education and health information for migrant students is critically important. Although some States have developed and implemented their own student records systems, current failures and interruptions in records transfer result in delays in school enrollment and academic services for migrant students, discrepancies in student placement, and repeat immunizations of migrant children. It is the Conferees’ intent to link existing systems of interstate migrant records transfer, and expand their function to enable the electronic transfer of records among all States. Section 1308(b)(2) provides federal leadership to accomplish this objective by requiring the Secretary to electronically link migrant student records. Such linkage will build upon existing and future systems for records transfer and will facilitate a timely exchange of health and academic information.”

16. The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, requires SEAs and LEAs to make migrant student records available at no cost to another SEA or LEA requesting such records.

SR

17. The House bill does not contain the Senate provisions in subparagraphs (B), (C), (D) regarding the solicitation of comments on the migrant student record transfer system, deadline for operation of the system, and the reservation of funds for the Secretary in establishing the system.

HR/SR with an amendment:

“(B) The Secretary shall publish, after consultation described in subparagraph (A), a notice in the Federal Register seeking public comment on the proposed data elements that each State receiving funds under this part shall be required to collect for purposes of electronic transfer of migrant student information, and the requirements that States must meet for immediate electronic access to such information. The publishing of such notice shall take place not later than 120 days after the date of enactment of [this Act].”

18. The House bill does not contain the Senate amendment provision requiring a report be submitted to Congress by the Secretary regarding the findings and recommendations pertaining to the migrant student record transfer system.

HR with an amendment:

“(4) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—Not later than April 30, 2003, the Secretary shall report to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions of the Senate and the Committee on Education and the Workforce of the House of Representatives the Secretary’s finding and the recommendations regarding the maintenance and transfer of health and educational information for migrant students by the States, and shall include in this report—

“(A) a review of the progress of States in developing and linking electronic records transfer systems;

“(B) recommendations for the developments and linkage of such systems; and

“(C) recommendations for measures that may be taken to ensure the continuity of services provided for migrant students.”

19. The Senate amendment language in this subparagraph is similar to the House bill language in subsection (b)(1) regarding assistance to States in transferring records and determining the number of migrant students. (See note 13.) However, the Senate amendment retains the current law provisions regarding the Secretary’s need to help States develop methods to count full-time equivalent students, which the House bill does not.

HR/SR with an amendment:

Section 1308(b) (20 U.S.C. 6398(b)) is amended as follows:

The bill includes authorization for a Panel on Teacher Mobility to study strategies for increasing mobility and employment opportunities for qualified teachers, especially in States with teacher shortages and States with districts or schools that are difficult to staff. Conferees do not intend pension portability be addressed by the panel.

However, the conferees note that the portability of teacher pensions was extensively addressed in P.L. 107-16, the Economic Growth and Tax Relief Reconciliation Act of 2001 (EGATRRRA). The new provisions will generally be effective on January 1, 2002. Previous law hindered teachers’ ability to move their pension benefits with them when they took new jobs. The new provisions break down the barriers thereby enhancing teachers’ mobility. Thus, teachers can now take new employment while more fully preserving their pension benefits.

It is the purpose of this section to have Bureau-funded schools develop standards that are equal to or exceed the accreditation standards of a State or regional accrediting agency, chosen by the school board in conjunction with the tribal governing body. “(A) DEFINITION.—In this subsection, the term ‘corrective action’ means action that—“(i) substantially and directly responds to—

“(I) the failure of a school to achieve accreditation; and

“(II) any underlying staffing, curriculum, or other programmatic problem in the school that contributed to the lack of accreditation; and “(ii) is designed to increase substantially the likelihood that the school will be accredited.

“(B) CORRECTIVE ACTION INAPPLICABLE.—The Secretary shall grant a waiver to any school that—

(i) is identified in the report described in paragraph (5)(C); and

(ii) fails to be accredited for reasons that are beyond the control of the school board, as determined by the Secretary. Reasons that are beyond the control of the school board include, but are not limited to, significant decline in financial resources, the poor condition of facilities, vehicles or other property, or a natural disaster. Such a waiver shall exempt such school from any or all of the requirements of this paragraph and paragraph (7), but such school shall be required to comply with the standards contained in part 36 of title 25, Code of Federal Register, as in effect on the date of enactment of the [Native American Education Improvement Act of 2001].

“(C) DUTIES OF SECRETARY.—After providing assistance to a school under paragraph (3), the Secretary shall—

“(i) annually review the progress of the school under the applicable school plan, to determine whether the school is meeting, or making adequate progress towards, achieving the goals described in paragraph (7)(A)(v) with respect to reaccreditation or becoming a candidate for accreditation;

“(ii) except as provided in subparagraph (B), continue to provide assistance while implementing the school’s plan, and, if determined appropriate by the Secretary, take corrective action with respect to the school if it fails to be accredited at the end of the third year of the school’s plan;

“(iii) promptly notify the parents of children enrolled in the school of the option to transfer their child to another public or Bureau funded school;

“(iv) provide all students enrolled in the school with the option to transfer to another public or Bureau funded school, including a public charter school, that is accredited; and

“(v) provide, or pay for the provision of, transportation for each student described in clause (iv) to the school described in clause (iv) to which the student elects to be transferred to the extent funds are available as determined by the tribal governing body.

“(D) FAILURE OF SCHOOL PLAN.—With respect to a Bureau operated school that fails to be accredited at the end of the 3-year period during which the school’s plan is in effect under paragraph (7), the Secretary may take 1 or more of the following corrective actions:

“(i) Institute and fully implement actions suggested by the accrediting agency.

“(ii) Consult with the tribe involved to determine the causes for the lack of accreditation including potential staffing and administrative changes that are or may be necessary.

“(iii) Set aside a certain amount of funds that may only be used by the school to obtain accreditation.

“(iv)(I) Provide the tribe with a 60-day period in which to determine whether the tribe desires to operate the school as a contract or grant school, before meeting the accreditation requirements in section 5207 of the Tribally Controlled Schools Act, at the beginning of the next school year following the determination to take corrective action. If the tribe agrees to operate the school as a contract or grant school, the tribe shall prepare a plan, pursuant to paragraph (7), for approval by the Secretary in accordance with paragraph (7), to achieve accreditation.

“(II) If the tribe declines to assume control of the school, the Secretary, in consultation with the tribe, may contract with an outside entity, consistent with applicable law, or appoint a receiver or trustee to operate and administer the affairs of the school until the school is accredited. The outside entity, receiver or trustee shall prepare a plan, pursuant to paragraph (7), for approval by the Secretary in accordance with paragraph (7).

“(III) Upon accreditation of the school, the Secretary shall allow the tribe to continue to operate the school as a grant or contract school, or if being controlled by an outside entity, provide the tribe with the option to assume operation of the school as a contract school, in accordance with the Indian Self Determination Act, or as a grant school in accordance with the Tribally Controlled Schools Act, at the beginning of the school year following the school year in which the school obtains accreditation. If the tribe declines, the Secretary may allow the outside entity, receiver or trustee to continue the operation of the school or reassume control of the school.

“(E) FAILURE OF SCHOOL PLAN OF CONTRACT OR GRANT SCHOOL.—

“(i) CORRECTIVE ACTION.—With respect to a contract or grant school that fails to be accredited at the end of the 3-year period during which the school’s plan is in effect under paragraph (7), the Secretary may take 1 or more of the corrective actions described in (D)(i) through (iii). The Secretary shall implement such corrective action for at least 1 year prior to taking any action described in clause (ii).

“(ii) OUTSIDE ENTITY.—If the corrective action described in clause (i) does not result in accreditation of the school, the Secretary, in conjunction with the tribal governing body, may contract with an outside entity to operate the school in order to achieve accreditation of the school within 2 school years. Prior to any such contract, the Secretary shall develop a proposal for such operation which shall include, at a minimum, the following elements:

“(I) the identification of 1 or more outside entities which has demonstrated to the Secretary its ability to develop a satisfactory plan for achieving accreditation, and which is willing and available to undertake such plan; and “(II) a plan for implementing operation of the school by such outside entity, including the methodology for oversight and evaluation of the performance of such outside entity by the Secretary and the tribe.

“(iii) PROPOSAL AMENDMENTS.—The tribal governing body shall have 60 days to amend the proposal described in clause (ii), including identifying another outside entity to operate the school. The Secretary shall reach agreement with the tribal governing body on the proposal and any such amendments to such proposal within 30 days of the expiration of the 60 day period described in the preceding sentence. After the approval of such proposal and any such amendments, the Secretary, with continuing consultation with such tribal governing body, shall implement such proposal.

“(iv) ACCREDITATION.—Upon accreditation of the school, the tribe shall have the option to assume the operation and administration of the school as a contract school after complying with the Indian Self Determination Act, or as a grant school, after complying with the Tribally Controlled Schools Act, at the beginning of the school year following the year in which the school obtains accreditation.

“(v) RETROCEDE.—Nothing in this subparagraph shall limit a tribe’s right to retrocede operation of a school to the Secretary pursuant to Sec. 105(e) of the Indian Self-Determination Act (with respect to a contract school) or Sec. 5204(f) of the Tribally Controlled Schools Act (with respect to a grant school).

(vi) CONSISTENT.—The provisions of this subparagraph shall be construed consistent with the provisions of the Tribally Controlled Schools Act and the Indian Self Determination Act as in effect on the date of enactment of the Native American Education Improvement Act of 2001, and shall not be construed as expanding the authority of the Secretary under any other law.

“(F) HEARING.—With respect to a school that is operated pursuant to a grant, or a school that is operated under a contract under the Indian Self Determination Act, prior to implementing any corrective action under this paragraph, the Secretary shall provide notice and an opportunity for a hearing to the affected school pursuant to section 5207 of the Tribally Controlled Schools Act.”

Report Language:

It is not the intent of the Conferees to broaden the authority of the Secretary of the Interior provided under the Indian Self Determination Act. However, nothing is intended to prevent this Act from being implemented as set forth in the Conference report. It is also the intent of this Act that prior to revoking an eligibility of determination and ceasing funding of a school, the Secretary shall exhaust all remedies stated in the Act and take any actions necessary to keep the school operational. The Conferees intend that the Secretary work with the affected tribe, consistent with the Federal policies of Indian self-determination, including, if necessary, temporarily assuming the operation and administration of a school that fails to become accredited for reasons that are not beyond the control of the school until the school becomes accredited and to eliminate impediments to achieving accreditation, including addressing underlying staffing, curriculum, or other programmatic problems in the school.

Section 1121(b)(8)(E) authorizes the Secretary to contract with an outside entity in cases where a contract or grant school has not achieved accreditation after the implementation of a school plan and corrective actions. While this section does not require the Secretary to contract with an outside entity, it is the intention of the Conferees to provide the Secretary with the discretion to contract with an outside entity in a case where both the school plan and any corrective action taken have not caused the school to gain accreditation. The Conferees do not intend to require the Secretary to contract with an outside entity if accreditation of the school can be gained through application of corrective actions.

With respect to public school choice:

The Conferees intend tribal governing bodies or school boards to establish reasonable parameters on the distance the school to which the child wishes to transfer is from the originating school. The Conferees do not intend this public school choice provision to provide an option to transfer to any school irrespective of the distance or costs associated with travel to such school.

Any remainder above the $200 million is reserved to carry out the Per-Pupil Facilities Aid Programs. The Senate amendment authorizes the Public Charter Schools program at such sums as may be necessary for each of the 6 succeeding fiscal years.

HR with an amendment to strike $400 million and insert $300 million (first $200 million going to charters and next $100 million going to per pupil) with increases thereafter being split 50/50.

Report Language:

Charter schools are public schools, yet lack the bonding and taxing authority traditionally available to school districts to finance their facilities. As a result, charter schools are forced to use operating revenues that are intended to be spent in the classroom to pay rent or to make debt payments for facilities. States have the primary obligation to address this inequity. But, to stimulate state initiatives, this legislation authorizes a limited-term federal role in encouraging states to establish or expand per pupil facilities aid programs.

Conferees support significant funding increases for the charter school program in order to free up resources, as quickly as possible, for the per-pupil financing program, a program that assists charter schools in meeting their operating needs, so that charter school resources may be better spent on academic activities.

Title VI—Impact Aid (New Title VIII)

1. The House bill and the Senate bill have similar provisions make a small modification to the “hold harmless” formula for distributing funds under Section 8002 (payments for federal acquisition of real property).

In the amendments to paragraph (1) of section 8002(h), the House bill refers to being determined pursuant to “statute” while the Senate amendment refers to “law.”

2. The House bill, but not the Senate bill, contains a provision to extend the filing deadline for a school district in Colorado that missed both: (1) its FY 1999 Section 8002 application deadline, and (2) a statutory exemption to that exception deadline granted as part of the FY 2001 Department of Education Appropriations Act. The district would be paid from FY 2001 funds.

HR

5. Both the House and Senate bills contain identical language expanding the number of small school districts which are guaranteed a 40 percent LOT payment.

HR/SR—to be taken out.

6. Both bills contain identical language modifying the definition of a “heavily impacted school district” to include school districts that have no taxing authority and whose boundaries are coterminous with those of an island held in trust by the federal government as being eligible for “heavily impacted” payments.

LC

7. Using different language, both the House bill and the Senate amendment amend Section 8007(b) of current law. The House provisions refer to “School Facility Emergency and Modernization Grants,” while the Senate amendment refers to “School Facility Modernization Grants.”

SR

8. Both the House bill and Senate amendment reserve 60 percent of the amount appropriated under subsection 8014(e) for competitive construction grants. The House bill directs the Secretary to award grants to LEAs for emergency repairs of school facilities as well as for the modernization of school facilities. The Senate bill directs the Secretary to make grants to LEAs only for the modernization of school facilities, but has a reservation of funds for emergency repairs in a different part of the bill (see note 9).

SR

9. The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, allocates 10 percent of the funds reserved for modernization for grants to LEAs described in paragraph (2)(A) (federal property), 45 percent for LEAs described in paragraph (2)(B) (Indian land), and 45 percent for LEAs described in paragraph (2)(C) (civilian “a” and military). The Senate amendment further reserves 10 percent of the funding allocated to Indian lands districts, and 10 percent of the funding allocated to Military districts for emergency grants which are not subject to specific award criteria.

10. The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, requires the Secretary to give priority to grants for emergency situations when making awards under this subsection.

SR with an amendment to allow individual schools that would otherwise qualify for an emergency grant or modernization grant but are in a school districts that fails to qualify, to apply for such a grant as if they were a “expanded definition school district” (see description of structure below). In order to qualify under this provision, a school must be at least 40 percent impacted, and be part of an LEA that has no bonding capacity or that has used up at least 75 percent of their bonding capacity, and has an assessed value of taxable property per student in the school district that is in the lowest 50 percent of school districts within the state.

Note: Below is the policy and structure for construction; final legislative language is still to be written:

Overall structure—

One pot for all qualifying entities to share; Emergency projects are funded first in the order of severity with projects in LEAs that have no practical capacity to issue bonds or limited capacity to issue bonds (House definitions) funded first, and expanded definition LEAs (those that don’t meet House definition but meet the definition below) funded second if money remains, and funded only under the same criteria that apply to districts with limited capacity to issue bonds.

Modernization projects are funded if money remains after all emergency applications are funded. The same criteria apply for modernization grant and emergency grants. LEAs with no practical capacity to issue bonds or limited capacity to issue bonds (House definitions) are funded first, and expanded definition LEAs (those that don’t meet House definition but meet definition below) are funded second if money remains.

Expanded definition districts are districts that are at least 40 percent impacted, have used up to at least 75 percent of their bonding capacity, and have an assessed value of taxable property per student in the school district that is in the lowest 50 percent of school districts within the state.

Leg. Counsel to craft above language. May need some sort of a special rule, or it might be better to just insert parts of agreement into suitable sections of the bill.

12. Both the House bill and the Senate amendment list eligibility requirements.

LC

13. The House bill but not the Senate amendment lists eligibility requirements for emergency grants. An LEA may be eligible if it receives formula grants under subsection (a), has an emergency condition which threatens the health or safety of students and personnel, and meets one of three conditions: (1) it has no practical capacity to issue bonds; (2) it has a limited capacity to issue bonds with a requirement that the LEA has used at least 75 percent of its bonding capacity; or (3) it is a heavily impacted district.

SR with amendment LC to craft language reflecting the eligible pool as outlined in the policy above.

14. The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, requires that for an entity to be eligible for an emergency grant, that it be eligible to receive formula grants for construction under subsection (a).

HR with amendment LC to craft language reflecting the eligible pool as outlined in the policy above.

15. Both the House bill and the Senate amendment list eligibility requirements for Modernization Grants.

LC

16. The House bill, but not the Senate amendment states that in order to receive a modernization grant, the LEA must meet the same criteria as those eligible for an emergency grant, except for having a school facility emergency, or must qualify as a federal lands district. The Senate amendment lists slightly different criteria with different placement (see note 17).

SR (per structure outlined in note 11).

17. The House bill and the Senate amendment have identical eligibility requirements for federal property districts.

LC

18. The Senate amendment provides that in order to be eligible for a modernization grant, an LEA and the facility to be modernized must be at least 25 percent impacted by certain types of connected students.

SR (per structure outlined in note 11).

19. The House bill, requires that in order to be eligible for a modernization grant, the LEA must have facility needs resulting from actions of the federal government. The Senate amendment requires this as a criteria for consideration by the Secretary (see note 26).

SR with an amendment to strike “actions of the federal government” and insert in its place “a federal presence”.

20. The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, defines the terms lack of practical capacity to issue bonds and minimal capacity to issue bonds.

SR (per structure outlined in note 11).

LC—May need to recede with an amendment to define districts that can receive funding only after those with limited or no practical bonding capacity are funded.

21. Both the House bill and the Senate amendment set forth award criteria. The House bill sets forth criteria for both emergency and modernization grants. The Senate bill requires the Secretary to review applications from federal lands districts, Indian lands districts, and military districts.

LC

Report Language:

The Conference Report requires the Secretary to consider the severity of the need for modernization, which may be measured by factors such as overcrowding or the potential for overcrowding. The conferees note that such overcrowding may arise from housing privatization undertaken by the Department of Defense.

22. The House bill requires the Secretary to take into account the ability of a school district to pay for either a modernization project or an emergency project. The Senate bill requires the Secretary to take into account the districts ability to pay for modernization projects.

23. The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, sets forth the following criteria to measure an LEAs ability to carry out a project, including its bonded indebtedness; its assessed value of real property per student, compared to the state average; the LEAs total tax rate for school purposes compared to the state average; and funds available to the LEA from other sources.

SR

24. Using different language, both the House bill and the Senate amendment require the Secretary to consider the lack of taxable property due to a federal presence and the impact of federally connected children.

SR

25. Using different language, both the House bill and the Senate amendment require the Secretary to consider the threat that a condition poses to health or safety, and overcrowding as evidenced by the use of portable facilities.

SR with amendment to insert (D)(ii).

26. The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to take into account facility needs resulting from the federal government. The House bill requires that facility needs result from the federal government in order to be eligible (see note 19).

SR (per note 19).

27. The House bill but not the Senate amendment requires the Secretary to consider the LEAs inability to maximize the use of technology or offer curriculum due to physical facility limitations.

SR

28. Both the House bill and the Senate amendment require the Secretary to consider the age of the facility to be modernized.

LC

29. Using different language, both the House bill and the Senate amendment provide additional award provisions.

LC

30. The House bill limits the amount of the cost of a project that may be funded under this subsection to 50 percent for LEAs that have limited bonding capacity or that qualify solely because they are heavily impacted. The Senate amendment limits the federal share to 50 percent for all projects.

SR

31. The House bill limits the amount an LEA may receive under this subsection for LEAs having limited bonding capacity or that qualify solely because they are heavily impacted to $3 million over a 5-year period. The Senate amendment limits the amount any LEA may receive to $5 million over a 2-year period.

HR/SR with an amendment to allow these districts to receive up to $4 million in a 4-year period.

32. The House bill allows the use of in-kind contributions to meet the match required of LEAs. The Senate amendment has a similar provision with different placement (see note 30).

SR

33. Both the House bill and the Senate amendment contain certain prohibitions on the use of funds under this subsection. These provisions are placed differently. The House bill prohibits funds from being used for facilities for which the LEA does not hold the title, or stadiums or other facilities primarily used for events for which admission is charged. The Senate amendment prohibits funds under this subsection from being used for the acquisition of real property, athletic and similar facilities for which admission is charged, and requires that all projects carried out with funds provided under this subsection to comply with relevant environmental law and regulation.

LC—merge the language from both bills.

34. Using slightly different language, both the House bill and the Senate amendment prohibit LEAs receiving funds under this subsection from supplanting funds that would otherwise be spent for facilities construction or modernization.

LC

35. The House bill but not the Senate amendment prohibits emergency grants under this subsection from being used for the replacement of an existing facility unless such replacement is more cost effective than repair of the existing facility.

SR

36. The House bill requires that emergency grants for which funding is not available shall be considered in the following year at the request of the LEA. The Senate amendment requires that an eligible entity that applies for a grant which is not funded shall have its grant application considered for the following fiscal year. The Senate amendment places this provision differently than the House bill.

HR

37. The House bill and the Senate amendment require LEAs seeking a grant under this subsection to submit an application to the Secretary.

LC

38. The House bill and the Senate amendment require different information to be submitted to the Secretary. The House bill requires applicants to submit information related to the award criteria. In the case of emergency grants, it requires a description of the hazard, and a signed statement certifying the deficiency. In the case of a modernization grant, the House bill requires an explanation for the need for the project and the age of the facility, a description of the project including a cost estimate, and a description of ownership interest in the facility.

LC—merge the lists of both bills.

39. The Senate amendment requires the submission of a listing of the facilities to be modernized and the percentage of federally impacted children, a description of the ownership of the property, a description of how the LEA meets the award criteria, a description of the project, and a cost estimate for the project.

LC—merge the two.

40. The Senate amendment requires LEAs applying for an emergency grant to submit a signed statement certifying the deficiency. This is similar to one of the provisions for emergency grants under the House bill (see above).

SR with an agreement to add report language.

Report Language:

The Conferees would urge the Department when awarding grants under section 8007(b) of the Impact Aid Program that every effort be made to insure that emergency grant application requests from all eligible categories of school districts are given equal consideration, subject to the requirements of that subsection.

41. The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, requires the Secretary to make every effort to meet fully the needs of Indian lands and Military Impacted school districts.

SR

42. The Senate amendment requires the Secretary to give priority based on severity of emergency if more than one grant application is received from an Indian lands or military district. The priority is based upon severity of the emergency and when the application was received. The house bill contains an absolute priority for emergency situations under subsection (b)(2).

HR

43. The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, requires the Secretary to report annually to the appropriate committees of Congress a justification of grants made under this subsection for the previous fiscal year. The House bill further defines the appropriate congressional committees.

SR

44. The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, increases the authorization for appropriation for Impact Aid construction to $150 million for FY 2002, and such sums as necessary for the four succeeding fiscal years.

SR

45. Both the House bill and the Senate bill have virtually identical language to clarify that Section 8009 (equalized states) payments are exempt from state equalization. The House bill, but not the Senate amendment, includes a reference to section 8003(b)(2).

SR

46. Both the House bill and the Senate bill contain language to authorize the program through 2006.

SR with amendment to change word "six" to "seven".

47. The House bill, but not the Senate bill contains language to transfer and redesignate the program.

LC

48. The House bill, but not the Senate bill contains a provision to provide that funds appropriated under the current placement of the Impact Aid program in Title VIII of the ESEA will be available under that program as redesignated as Title VI.

LC

Report Language:

Language was included in the FY 2001 National Defense Authorization Act to reauthorize the Impact Aid program. As part of the reauthorization, language was included in Section 8002(j) to authorize Section 8002 (payments relating to federal acquisition of real property) funding for the Centennial School District in Bucks County, Pennsylvania due to their unique situation. The Centennial

School District is the only school district in the nation where the only military facility that was located entirely within the boundaries of the school district was realigned as a part of base realignment and closure (BRAC), but the school district continues to educate the children of families who continue to live on that property even though the parent(s) are stationed at a federal facility located outside the boundaries of the school district. The Commander of that federal facility has stated that this current situation will continue for the foreseeable future. By moving the language of Section 8002(j) of the Impact Aid Program to Part D of Title V, the Fund for the Improvement of Education (FIE), it is not the intent of the conferees to in any way affect the authorization for funding Section 8002(j) and in no way minimizes the ability of members to seek funding for the authorization on an annual basis.

49. The House bill, but not the Senate bill contains language regarding a Sense of Congress that the Impact Aid program should be fully funded.

SR with amendment to insert State flexibility demonstration, State accountability for AYP, and changes to NAEP and NAGB in NESAs:

(1) State flexibility Demonstration:

The purpose of this part is to allow 7 States additional flexibility in the use of federal funds for State administration and State activity funds. If a State chooses to participate, it does not affect how much money they receive—the same federal formulas apply.

Eligible Programs:

Part A of Title I—State administration only (Education for the Disadvantaged);

Part B of Title I (Reading First and Even Start);

Section 2113(a)(3) of Part A of Title II (Teachers);

Section 2412(a)(1) of Part D of Title II (Technology);

Sections 4112(a)(1) (with the agreement of the Governor), 4112(c)(1), and 4112(b)(2) of Part A of Title IV (Safe and Drug Free Schools);

Section 4202(c)(2) and (3) of Part B of Title IV (21st Century Community Learning Centers);

Sections 5112(a) and 5112(b) of Part A of Title V—State administration, State activity and Local activity funds (Innovative Programs Block Grant).

Title V Block Grant—If the State educational agency includes the local activity funds, it must ensure 85% of pre-FY 2002 funds are sent locally and 100% of funds above the FY 2002 funds are sent locally.

Agreement with the Secretary—The State educational agency would apply to the Secretary to be able to take advantage of this flexibility.

Use of Funds—Similar to the schoolwide provision which allows consolidation of federal dollars at the school level, funds could be used for any educational activity authorized under H.R. 1, to meet the general purposes of the program funds included in the waiver, in order to improve academic achievement and close achievement gaps.

Approval—The Secretary may approve the application only if the Secretary determines that such application demonstrates substantial promise of carrying out the education reform goals of the State.

Reporting—States would annually report to the Secretary on how they are using these funds in accordance with their waiver.

Termination—The Secretary will terminate the State flexibility under this part if the State fails to meet adequate yearly progress for 2 consecutive years or for non-compliance with the terms of the application.

Alignment—State flexibility demonstration States must have no less than 4, but no more than 10, local flexibility demonstration districts in alignment with the State flexibility demonstration, and that at least half of the districts must be districts with a poverty percentage of 20% or higher. Districts participating in the State flex demo State must align with the State flexibility demonstration for the State to be eligible to participate in State flex. Additional local flex demo districts beyond the minimum 4 districts required under the State flex demo may sign up at any point, up to a total of 10 districts, so long as they are in alignment with the State flex demo.

Districts in a State that is participating in State flex, that are not part of the State flex demo (i.e., not the initial 4 or among the 10 total) may benefit from the State flex demo dollars (which is not inclusive of the local flex demo dollars).

Districts that join the State in the State flex demo (i.e., the initial 4 or among the 10 total) shall submit their performance agreements in conjunction with the State application for State flex. The State shall submit a "consolidated" application including the district information for those districts participating.

States have priority in signing up for the State flex demo over districts wishing to sign up for the local flex demo so as to encourage alignment between the State and districts. If the State has not notified the Secretary of their interest to participate in State flex in [6] months after enactment, the districts in that State may submit performance agreements to the Secretary.

(2) And State accountability for AYP language:

"SEC. . STATE ACCOUNTABILITY FOR ADEQUATE YEARLY PROGRESS."

"(a) ACCOUNTABILITY FOR ADEQUATE YEARLY PROGRESS.—After a State has had its plan approved under Title I and Title III of this Act and such plans have been implemented for 2 years, the Secretary shall review whether the State has met its adequate yearly progress definition under section 1111 [(b)(2)] of this Act for each of the groups of students described in section 1111 [(b)(2) . . . (the 4 accountability subgroups)] and meet its annual measurable objectives under section [Title III] of this Act.

"(b) DETERMINATION.—The Secretary shall use a peer review process to review, based on data from the State assessments administered pursuant to section 1111 of this Act, whether a State has failed to make its definition of adequate yearly progress for two consecutive years, and to review, based on data from the evaluations in section [Title III] of this Act, whether a State has failed to meet its annual measurable objectives under section [Title III] of this Act for two consecutive years.

"(c) TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE.—(1) Based on the determination described in subsection (b), the Secretary shall provide technical assistance to a State that has not met its definition of adequate yearly progress no later than the beginning of the next school year following the school year in which the determination described in subsection (b) is made.

"(2) The technical assistance described in paragraph (1) shall:

"(A) be valid, reliable and rigorous; and

"(B) provide constructive feedback to help the State meet its definition of adequate yearly progress.

"(3) Based on the determination described in subsection (b), the Secretary may provide technical assistance to a State that has not met its annual objectives in section [Title III] no later than the beginning of the next school year following the school year in which the determination in subsection (b) was made.

"(4) The technical assistance described in paragraph (1) shall:

"(A) be valid, reliable, and rigorous; and

"(B) provide constructive feedback to help the State meet its annual measurable objectives in section [Title III]."

Report Language:

"Just as schools and districts that fail to make adequate yearly progress for student academic achievement for two consecutive years must develop improvement plans, Conferencees expect States that continually fail to make adequate yearly progress to develop and implement strategies that will enable the State to make adequate yearly progress and that specifically address issues that prevented the State from making such progress."

(d) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—Beginning with the 2005–2006 school year, the Secretary shall submit an annual report to the Committee on Education and the Workforce of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Health, Education, Labor and Pensions of the Senate containing—

(1) a list of each State that has not met its definition of adequate yearly progress based on the determination described in subsection (b);

(2) a list of each State that has not met its annual measurable objectives under section [—Title III];

(3) the information reported by the State to the Secretary pursuant to section 1119 [—teacher accountability]; and

(4) a description of any technical assistance provided pursuant to subsection (c)

Report Language:

Conferees stress that a fundamental purpose of Title I as established under this Act is to hold States, local educational agencies and schools accountable for improving the academic achievement of all students, and for identifying and turning around low-performing schools. As a result, Conferees expect States to meet their definition of adequate yearly progress to the same degree as local school districts and schools. The Conferees further urge Congress and the Secretary to thoroughly examine the data collected from the State assessment systems and factor such information into future discussions on accountability measures for States, which should include consideration of the use of fiscal sanctions to hold those States that continually fail to meet their definition of adequate yearly progress and fail to improve the academic achievement of all students accountable.

(3) Sections 411 and 412 of the NESA are amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 411. NATIONAL ASSESSMENT OF EDUCATIONAL PROGRESS.

"(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—The Commissioner shall, with the advice of the National Assessment Governing Board established under section 412, and with the technical assistance of the Advisory Council established under section 407, carry out, through grants, contracts, or cooperative agreements with one or more qualified organizations, or consortia thereof, a National Assessment of Educational Progress, which collectively refers to a national assessment, State assessments, and a long-term trend assessment in reading and mathematics.

"(D) to the extent time and resources allow, and after the requirements described in subparagraph (B) are implemented and then the requirements described in subparagraph (C) are met, conduct additional national assessments and collect and report assessment data, including achievement data trends, in a valid and reliable manner on student academic achievement in grades 4, 8, and 12 in public and private schools in regularly scheduled intervals in additional subject matter, including writing, science, history, geography, civics, economics, foreign languages, and arts, and the trend assessment described in subparagraph (F);

"(E) conduct the reading and mathematics assessments described in subparagraph (B) in the same year, and every other year thereafter, to thereby provide for one year in which no such assessments are conducted in between each administration of such assessments; and

"(F) continue to conduct the trend assessment of academic achievement at ages 9, 13, and 17 for the purpose of maintaining data on long-term trends in reading and mathematics.

[Report Language: "The Conferees intend the long-term trend assessment will continue to be administered in the same manner as prior to the enactment of [NCLB/BEST]. Further, the Conferees intend that NAGB shall formulate policy for the long-term trend assessment."]

"(G) include information on special groups, including, whenever feasible, information collected, cross tabulated, compared, and reported by race or ethnicity, socioeconomic status, gender, disability and limited English proficiency; and

"(B)(i) States participating in State assessments shall enter into an agreement with the Secretary pursuant to subsection (d)(3).

"(ii) Such agreement shall contain information sufficient to give States full information about the process for decision-making (which shall include the consensus process used), on objectives to be tested, and the standards for random sampling, test administration, test security, data collection, validation, and reporting.

"(C)(i) Except as provided in clause (ii), a participating State shall review and give permission for the release of results from any test of its students administered as a part of a State assessment prior to the release of such data. Refusal by a State to release its data shall not restrict the release of data from other States that have approved the release of such data.

"(ii) A State participating in the biennial academic assessments of student achievement in reading and mathematics in grades 4 and 8 shall be deemed to have given its permission to release its data if it has an approved plan under section 1111 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

"(3) PROHIBITED ACTIVITIES.—

"(A) The use of assessment items and data on any assessment authorized under this section by an agent or agents of the Federal Government to rank, compare, or otherwise evaluate individual students or teachers, or to provide rewards or sanctions for indi-

"(A) use widely accepted professional testing standards, objectively measure academic achievement, knowledge, and skills, and ensure that any academic assessment authorized under this section be tests that do not evaluate or assess personal or family beliefs and attitudes or publicly disclose personally identifiable information;

[Report language: The Conferees wish to clarify that this provision does not prohibit the use of essay, extended response, or short answer test items, nor does it prohibit the use of test items which require a student to analyze a passage of text, or to express opinions provided that such test items are developed consistent with widely accepted professional assessment standards. Further, it does not preclude the use of non-intrusive, non-cognitive questions, approved by the National Assessment Governing Board, whose direct relationship to academic achievement has been demonstrated and is being studied as part of the National Assessment of Educational Progress for the purposes of improving such achievement.]

"(B) only collect information that is directly related to the appraisal of academic achievement, and to the fair and accurate presentation of such information; and"

[Report Language: The Conferees wish to clarify that "fair and accurate presentation" is intended to mean that the data and information resulting from the implementation of this section, whether aggregated at the national, regional, or State level, are valid and reliable and reported to the public in a manner that is impartial and free of misinterpretation, such as ensuring the statistical accuracy of the data and information and not ranking State performance.]

LC

41. The House bill and Senate amendment are identical.

LC

42. The Senate amendment, but not the House bill, includes a definition of “teacher mentoring.” See note 26 above on mentoring

HR with an amendment in (31)(A) to strike “beginning” and insert “especially beginning teachers” after “teachers” and in (31)(A)(ii)(I), to strike “mentor” and insert “exemplary”.

Report Language:

The Conferees intend that a teacher mentoring program should be available to all teachers who need it, and have emphasized the needs of beginning teachers. This added emphasis should not be read to exclude veteran teachers from mentoring programs, but rather to acknowledge the significant needs of beginning teachers. Data show that half of all beginning teachers in high-poverty schools drop out of teaching within five years, and 20 percent of all new teachers leave teaching within three years. Furthermore, less than half of teachers in low-performing schools, which are also likely to be high-poverty schools, are likely to receive any additional professional development. While beginning teachers need the help and support that a high quality mentoring program can provide, the Conferees believe federal support for mentoring programs should not be limited to beginning teachers only. Veteran teachers can also benefit from sustained high quality mentoring and coaching efforts.

A number of recent surveys of teachers demonstrate that veteran teachers want the type of sustained professional development that they get by working with successful teachers. Furthermore, there are a variety of existing professional development models that have demonstrated the benefits of providing mentoring and coaching to experienced teachers, among them the El Paso Collective for Education Excellence, which pairs veteran math and science teachers with experienced teaching coaches.

Rather than single out any one group of teachers for additional support and assistance, the Conferees believe that any teacher, be it a beginning teacher who is struggling to handle a class alone for the first time and is at risk of dropping out of teaching, or one who has taught for multiple years, who has shown difficulty in advancing the knowledge and abilities of his or her students, should receive high quality professional development, which may include being paired with a mentor or coach. Therefore, the Conferees note that mentoring services be provided to, but not be limited to beginning teachers (teachers who have been in the classroom less than 3 years).

The Conferees also note that teacher mentoring programs should be part of an ongoing developmental induction process. Effective induction processes should be a continuous process throughout a teacher's time as a beginning teacher. This is to provide the teacher with the most support possible to enable the teacher to fully adapt to the teaching profession and increase the likelihood the teacher will continue in the teaching profession.

The Conferees intend the definition of technology to include computer hardware, software and other electronically delivered learning materials, web-based and other digital learning resources, including on-line classes, interactive tutorials, and interactive tools and virtual learning environments, hand-held devices, wireless technology, voice recognition systems and high quality digital video, distance learning networks, visualization, modeling and simulation software and learning focused digital libraries and information retrieval systems, closed circuit television systems, educational television, and radio programs and services, cable television, satellite, copper and fiber optic transmission, video, audio, and CD-ROM discs, and video and audio tapes. Report Language:

In the 2000 rate case, the U.S. Postal Service levied an 18% increase on mail sent under Bound Printed Matter (BPM), the class of mail under which books are sent to our nation's schools, libraries, literacy, and early childhood programs. This increase, the highest of any category, has had a direct impact on the ability of several literacy and free book programs to deliver their services. It has come to the attention of the Conferees that the US Postal Service intends to again increase the rates charged for bound printed matter, including books. Given the educational importance of the 100 million books shipped to children annually under this rate, the Conferees urge the U.S. Postal Service and Congress to take action to ensure the continued affordability of books for all of America's children.

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

TRIBUTE TO CHALDEAN FEDERATION OF AMERICA IN RECOGNITION OF THEIR 20TH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

HON. DAVID E. BONIOR

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mr. BONIOR. Mr. Speaker, today I rise to recognize the 20th Anniversary Celebration and 9th Annual Awards Banquet of the Chaldean Federation of America. This anniversary marks 20 years of the federation's distinguished commitment to the Chaldean community in Michigan and 9 years of presenting awards to exemplary citizens within the community.

The Chaldean Federation of America was established in 1980 as a nonprofit organization, as part of the nationwide group of the Association of Chaldean Americans. The federation is a beacon of support for Chaldean American citizens living in the metropolitan Detroit area, providing valuable assistance to the Chaldean American community. Today the Chaldean Federation of America represents over 120,000 Chaldean Americans living in the Detroit metropolitan area.

Community and public service are tenets of the Chaldean Federation of America. Their organization provides help for Chaldeans seeking to adjust comfortably into American society. The organization is also involved in numerous community action programs, including, but certainly not limited to, serving needy families, protecting civil and legal rights of all Chaldeans promoting volunteer opportunities, offering language enhancement classes, promoting greater understanding of cultural differences, and working with youth to ensure they have an equal opportunity. Services like these are why we must all look with great pride upon the work on behalf of the community done by the Chaldean Federation of America.

Without an organization like the Chaldean Federation of America, the large population of Chaldean Americans living in Michigan would be without one of the greatest resources within the community. Too often we tend to ignore minority groups, forcing them to live in isolation from the whole community. The Chaldean Federation of America is committed to breaking down walls that at times exist between communities, fostering great understanding of cultural differences, and providing Chaldean Americans with valuable services that benefit not only Chaldeans, but the entire community.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to congratulate the Chaldean Federation of America for 20 years of outstanding support in the community and I ask that all of my colleagues join me in recognition of their hard work and dedication.

RECOGNIZING RED RIBBON WEEK AND ENCOURAGING AMERICA'S YOUTH TO STAY DRUG-FREE

HON. JO ANN EMERSON

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mrs. EMERSON. Mr. Speaker, earlier this fall I was invited to share a Red-Ribbon Week Message with students in Missouri's Eighth Congressional District. Although my congressional responsibilities required me to remain in Washington, I wanted to share with our students why I believe it's so important to learn from your parents, teachers, community leaders and your peers about the danger of drugs and why you should stay away from drugs—now and forever.

I know that it seems like parents, educators, and grownups have been telling you forever that drugs lead you one way—the wrong way. You might even think that you've heard it all before and that we are nagging you because we keep bringing it up. I mean you get it from everywhere right? Your parents tell you at the dinner table about the dangers of drugs. Your teachers tell you at school that drugs lead you to a life of loss and destruction. And others, like your local law enforcement officers tell you that drugs lead to death and destruction.

Well, you know that? They are all right. And believe it or not, they aren't hollering at you just because they have to, they are hollering at you because they love and care about you and they want you to have productive, happy and healthy lives.

Now, even though I think parents, teachers, and other grown ups are doing a good job of warning you about the dangers of drug use, I believe kids can help keep other kids from using drugs. In fact, I think that each of you can lead the way in the fight against drugs by teaming up and sending the rest of America a message. The message is this—not everyone is trying drugs and using drugs is not normal. And to prove that point, you aren't going to use drugs—and neither are your friends.

It works like this. Imagine that you are at a party or just hanging out with a group of kids after school. Someone, maybe even another student, starts smoking marijuana. They ask you to join in. They tell you it's great, that it won't hurt you and that you are a loser if you say no. What would you do?

You know deep down that the best thing to do is say no and walk away. But as a mom, and believe it or not, someone who was once a kid, I know that it's really tough to be the only one that says no. You feel alone and you feel like everyone else won't think you're very cool.

But you know what? If you, as friends make a pact to be a team—to say no and leave—then you have made a real statement. Not only are drugs not okay for you, but they aren't okay for your friends either. These tips and suggestions were developed by students like you. They call it, "keepin it REAL." And for them, REAL stands for:

R: Refuse—a simple "no" goes a long way—but it goes even further when you all say "no" together.

E: Explain—You can say, "I am not that kind of person, or that is not for us." And if you are forceful, your "no" will go a very long way.

A: Avoid—You know just as well as the police and others, that there are places where the likelihood that drugs are around is more prevalent in some places than others. If you know where those places are, then you'll know to avoid them. In other words, stay away.

L: Leave—Like the story I mentioned earlier, you can leave—and you should leave.

You can keep it real, and you can get some of the support you need in that effort from your parents, your teachers, your teammates and others in the community. One of the organizations in your area that is helping out is PAWSPT/Narc with a Bark. PAWSPT or Prevention Awareness With Students, Parents and Teachers is a unique program using trained canines to sniff out drugs in your school. They also come into your schools to teach you about the danger of drug use. The program is run by Rosa and Doug Wallis and is a great effort on their part to open up the lines of communications about drugs and drug use prevention. I encourage every one of you to learn more about what they've been doing to help keep drugs out of your schools.

Mr. Speaker, before I go, I want to leave the children of Missouri's Eighth District and the children of our Nation with one more thought. You students are the most valuable and important resource that we have—you are the future leaders of our country. But this year, more than 2.4 million students just like you will try drugs. But if you all team up and stand together to refuse, explain, avoid, and leave drug-related situations, then you have a REAL chance to have a wonderful life full of promise, hope and success. I believe you can do it and so do your teachers, parents, and your community leaders. We're depending on you and if you need help, then I hope you know, you can depend on us.

IN RECOGNITION OF CHARLES COUNTY PUBLIC SCHOOLS

HON. STENY H. HOYER

OF MARYLAND

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to give recognition to Charles County public schools. The Charles County public schools received the Daisy Bates National School District Award for its minority achievement program. Under the direction of Superintendent

James E. Richmond, Charles County public schools have made the success of all students a major priority, and addressing the performance of minority students is a major component of this effort. Charles County public schools has developed a 5-year plan for academic achievement, personal responsibility, and career readiness. In this plan, everyone is responsible for successful attainment of the objectives. The superintendent, board members, instructional staff, principals, certificated and support staff, all play major roles in addressing the "success for all" approach.

Designing programs that best meet the needs of the students is a major key of their success. In order to make programs like these work, systems must first look at the needs of the students and then develop the programs. Charles County public schools sought to fit the program to the students, not the students to the program. Their programs are successful because of the dedication and commitment of their teachers. They truly believe that all children can and will learn to read if given instruction and additional time to read and write in an environment that supports and challenges them. This system provides continuous training for teachers and assistants, limits class size, and provides current, appealing, and appropriate materials for their schools.

Mr. Speaker, and colleagues, please join with me in wishing the Charles County public schools continued success and congratulations on their achievements toward the academic success of their students.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mr. UDALL of Colorado. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to a tireless worker and a devoted public servant. After eighteen years of public service, Nancy Heil, who began her service on the city council in 1983 and has served as Mayor of Westminster, Colorado, for six years, is retiring.

Throughout her public career, Mayor Heil's priority has been preserving the quality of life for Westminster residents. During the forty years she has called Westminster her home, she has watched it grow from a small suburban town of 12,000 residents to a city of over 100,000. Ensuring that people are still able to enjoy the lifestyle they came to Westminster for has always been of top importance to the Mayor. She has been a constant, positive force in the community, displaying an unmatched passion for the welfare of her citizens.

Mayor Heil was a leader in focusing attention on the importance of removing the radioactive wastes from the U.S. Department of Energy's Rocky Flats Nuclear Weapons Facility—which is located just west of Westminster. She spoke out about the importance of finding secure locations to remove the dangerously contaminated material from such a well-populated urban area and thereby safeguard the millions of people in the Denver-metro area.

She was also one of the leaders and original proponents of preserving the open space resources at Rocky Flats and in calling for the site to be transformed into a National Wildlife Refuge once it is cleaned up and closed. In such a fast growing area of the Denver metropolitan region, Mayor Heil saw an opportunity to keep much of this area as a natural asset for future generations.

Through her ability to forge coalitions and collaborate with neighboring communities, Mayor Heil was able to bring out the best in other leaders and ensure that it was always the citizens that benefited. I am proud to have had the opportunity to work with a community leader of her quality. She put the people first and I consider it an honor to represent her and her community in Congress. She is an example of what we all should look for in our leaders: commitment, selflessness, and passion. It is with great pleasure that I take this opportunity to recognize her and thank her for her years of dedicated service. The city of Westminster and indeed the state of Colorado have greatly benefited from her contributions and leadership. Her talents and resourcefulness will be sorely missed.

Her accomplishments and the esteem in which she is held were recently reported in the Denver Post. For the information of our colleagues, I am attaching a copy of that report.

[From the Denver Post, December 11, 2001]

HEIL LEAVES OFFICE ON HIGH NOTE

(By George Lane)

WESTMINSTER—When Nancy Heil first took her seat on the City Council in 1983, she might have been one of the most naive politicians around.

Consider that she wondered if "Dr. Cog" might be a family physician. DRCOG is the acronym for the Denver Regional Council of Governments.

Since then, Heil's growth and political maturity have resulted in her twice being named Westminster Woman of the Year and becoming the city's first elected mayor.

Now, after almost two decades of service, in the middle of the term to which she was elected in 1999, Heil is resigning from office Dec. 31. She says it's time for something new.

"These are extraordinary times, and they have caused me to re-think the importance of the office of mayor," she said during a recent interview. "I have willingly given 18 years of my life to work for the city I love. I have given it my best, and now I believe it is time for me to take a new direction."

Councilman Ed Moss, recently elected major pro tem, will complete Heil's unexpired term, as dictated by the city charter.

Government observers here say following Heil won't be easy.

"Nancy, she's a class act," said Adams County Commissioner Elaine Velente. "Her shoes are going to be tough to fill. I think she's done a tremendous job representing the city of Westminster."

Heil was a teacher in upstate New York before she met her husband, Jay, and moved to Colorado. Jay Heil is a Colorado native who went back East for dental school. The couple now have four adult children.

The mayor said that Westminster was a town of about 15,000 people when she moved here about 40 years ago, and there was almost no place to live. She now points proudly at a city of more than 100,000, the Westin Hotel that opened several years ago and Westminster Mall, where sales tax has been Westminster's major source of revenue for a number of years.

The mayor said she has resolved some health problems over the past few years. During the past year, she also has faced a sometimes-divided City Council over whether one of their own should be removed because of expense-account irregularities.

"She had a good vision for the city, wanted the city to improve its image and it did, wanted the city to be known as a good place to live and I think she achieved that," said Vi June, mayor from 1985 to 1991.

HONORING DR. HUGH C. AVALOS OF CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

HON. JERRY WELLER

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mr. WELLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize and honor Dr. Hugh C. Avalos of Morris, Illinois as he prepares to retire at the end of this year. For more than 40 years, Dr. Avalos has served his community in a great many ways.

First and foremost, Dr. Avalos has always demonstrated the greatest concern for and commitment to his patients. A physician of great skill, Dr. Avalos received a solid education at the University of Mexico, the Little Company of Mary Hospital in Chicago and Cook County Hospital in Chicago. Dr. Avalos has displayed his professional dedication throughout his career by pursuing additional educational opportunities on four continents and winning Board certification in English, Spanish and German.

Although not a native of Morris, Illinois, Dr. Avalos has spent the past 42 years working to better his adopted community. Active membership in service organizations such as the Moose, Shriners and especially Rotary International, which he served as president of the local club, has been a large part of his volunteer efforts along with important leadership positions at the local bank and hospital.

A very special interest of Dr. Avalos, though, has been serving the youth of the City of Morris. For more than 30 years, Dr. Avalos used his considerable professional skills to protect the health and condition of the youth of Morris as the team physician for the Morris Community High School football, basketball and baseball teams.

From a personal perspective as a resident of Morris, I am proud to have been able to consider Dr. Avalos a good friend now for well over a decade. I am well aware of the great esteem in which he is held by his patients and our community as a whole. It gives me great pleasure to both congratulate Dr. Avalos on a tremendous professional career and also to wish him much happiness during his retirement years.

Mr. Speaker, using the life and career of Dr. Hugh Avalos as an example, I urge the Members of this body to identify, recognize and honor other individuals in their own districts whose actions have greatly benefitted our communities and nation.

RECOGNIZING MARY BESS, CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER, ON HER RETIREMENT FROM MADISON MEDICAL CENTER (FREDERICKTOWN—MADISON COUNTY)

HON. JO ANN EMERSON

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mrs. EMERSON. Mr. Speaker, H. Jackson Brown Jr.'s book On Success reminds us to "remember that overnight success usually takes about fifteen years." Well, if that is the case, then Mary E. Bess is an overnight success and then some. Having served the Madison Medical Center in Fredericktown for 25 years, Mary is retiring and leaving her position as Chief Financial Officer of the Center.

As Mary retires and leaves the day to day work at the Madison Medical Center, she leaves an indelible mark on the entire Madison County region. For 25 years she has dedicated her professional life to improving health care affordability, accessibility and service. Her contributions have been a source of great pride and satisfaction for the Madison Medical Center and have resulted in such community-wide recognition as the Administrative Management Award for her hard work as a health care provider in Madison County.

There is no doubt that Mary, a graduate of Greenville High School, who has spent a great deal of time and energy helping others, will not simply rest on laurels now that she is retiring. Instead, I'm sure that she will spend time on both new activities and favorite pastimes. Specifically, I am referring to enjoying time with those people who mean the most to her—her husband Hershel and her children, David and Dennis. But most of all, I am certain that those individuals who will benefit the most from her retirement will be her four grandchildren: Mallory, Chelsea, David Scott and Dustin.

It's often been said that success is not measured by great wealth or material treasures. Instead, success is measured on the person you are, the life you live, and how your life influences the lives of others. If that is true, and I believe that it is, then we are all richer for knowing Mary Bess.

While Mary may be leaving the Madison Medical Center, her contributions to the organization are timeless and will endure. She leaves the Madison Medical Center far stronger, smarter and richer than it was when she joined it and that is a legacy for which she can be proud.

Mr. Speaker, on this very special occasion, I ask that all of my colleagues join me in congratulating Mary on this milestone and wish her every happiness for the future.

DANGER AHEAD: SOCIAL SECURITY PRIVATIZATION IS BREAKING THE PROMISE

HON. JANICE D. SCHAKOWSKY

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Ms. SCHAKOWSKY. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased that the House is considering a resolution stating our commitment to maintain the promise of Social Security by guaranteeing lifetime, inflation-proof benefits to current and future beneficiaries.

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

I am not surprised that we feel the need to do so tonight in light of today's dangerous recommendations by the President's Social Security Commission, that we feel the need to reaffirm our commitment to Social Security on the same day that the Commission is suggesting that we break that promise.

We should assure Americans—current retirees, future retirees, persons on disability, survivors and dependents—that we will not abandon them, cut their benefits, raise their retirement age, change benefit formulas, reduce COLAS, or take any other step that jeopardizes their financial security.

We should assure Americans that we will reject the recommendations of the President's Social Security Commission.

We all know that this Commission was handpicked to include only those who favor privatization and individual accounts. It does not include representatives of seniors' groups, women's groups, or consumer groups. It held closed-door sessions in subcommittee meetings designed to circumvent government in the sunshine requirements. But even this Commission agrees that you cannot have privatization without cutting benefits.

Two weeks ago, I had the opportunity to meet with members of the Commission at an event sponsored by the Women's Caucus. At that meeting, we were told that the Commission's recommendations would not guarantee current benefits to all current and future retirees. We were told that only those 55 years or older would be guaranteed current benefits. For everyone else, benefit levels could be lower.

In fact, the Commission's recommendations would lower Social Security benefits for future beneficiaries by between 30 percent to 48 percent. Who would be hurt? Persons with disabilities, children, low-wage workers, persons of color and women.

As we know, Social Security is of special importance to women, who are 60% of all recipients. Without Social Security, over half of older women would live in poverty. Women understand that value of Social Security, we know that we must protect it now and in the future.

Therefore, we should listen to what women's groups have to say about the Commission's recommendations issued today.

Martha Burk, chair of the National Council of Women's Organizations, says that "The President's Social Security Commission proposes major cuts in guaranteed benefits that will not be made up by the stock market gains from individual accounts."

Heidi Hartmann, head of the Institute for Women's Policy Research, says that the recommendations "risk the future economic security of younger workers, particularly women."

They are joined in opposing these recommendations by groups like the Older Women's League, the National Organization for Women, the American Association of University Women, and Business and Professional Women, USA.

In light of the widespread public opposition to privatization, I am not surprised that the Republican leadership is bringing up a resolution that distances this body from the Commission's recommendations.

I only hope that we will do more than voice our commitment to the future of social Security. I hope that we will put privatization proposals to rest for good.

BIPARTISAN TRADE PROMOTION AUTHORITY ACT OF 2001

SPEECH OF

HON. BENJAMIN A. GILMAN

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 6, 2001

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I commend the diligent efforts of Chairman THOMAS, my colleagues and their staff members in drafting and sponsoring H.R. 3005, the Bipartisan Trade Promotion Authority Act of 2001.

H.R. 3005 is being referred to as the most environmentally and labor responsive legislation regarding Trade Promotion Authority (Fast Track) to be sponsored by the U.S. Congress. However, I share the concerns raised by many of my constituents that H.R. 3005's labor and environmental standards do not go far enough to ensure a level playing field in our proposed trade agreements.

H.R. 3005 refers to environmental and labor provisions as negotiating objectives. Our trade history reveals that during the past 25 years including labor rights, and now environmental rights, as "negotiating objectives" do not guarantee that these provisions will actually be included in any proposed trade agreements. The geopolitical and trade landscape has changed, of the 142 members comprising the World Trade Organization (WTO), 100 are classified as developing nations and 30 are referred to as lesser-developed nations. Why is this important? It is important because with China's accession into the WTO, the 130 nations will become more forceful in promoting their trade agendas, and an opportunity for a more favorable trade agreement becomes apparent if a nation lowers its environmental and labor standards. Many nations' standards are sub-standard at best.

As drafted, the overall negotiating objective of H.R. 3005 is to promote respect for worker rights. My constituents report that the worker rights provisions do not guarantee that "core" labor standards are included in the corpus of prospective trade agreements. By core labor standards, I refer to the International Labor Organization's 1998 Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work: freedom of association, the right to organize and for collective bargaining, and the rights to be free from child labor, forced labor and employment discrimination, which many people throughout the world are confronted with.

My constituents are troubled that H.R. 3005 does not require a signatory to an agreement to improve or even to maintain that its domestic laws comport with the standards of the International Labor Organization, in practice an incentive is created for lowering them. Among H.R. 3005's principle objectives is a provision entitled labor and the environment, which calls for the signatories to trade agreements to enforce their own environment and labor laws. The United States, as a leader in the global trade community must set the example by raising the labor and environmental standards of its trading partners. In the end, it will be the United States who is called upon to provide the resources to clean-up environmental disasters.

Through their first-hand accounts, my constituents report that workers in many nations that we seek to enter into bi-lateral and multi-lateral trade agreements are subjected to exploitation, harassment and worse for exercising their rights to collective bargaining, and are forced to work under abusive conditions. For example, in our own hemisphere more than 33% of the complaints filed with the International Labor Organization's Committee on Free Association originate in the Andean region. I understand that new labor laws in Bolivia, Ecuador, Columbia and Peru undermine the right to collective bargaining, and there are scores of reports from NGO's regarding unconscionable violations of the most fundamental rights for workers and their union representatives. The AFL-CIO reports that since January 2001, more than 93 union members in Columbia have been murdered, while the perpetrators have gone unpunished.

How the United States engages in trade negotiations and its practices are crucial not only for our future, but for our democratic process. How our nation conducts itself is scrutinized world-wide, in essence, we must set the right example. Events at the recent World Trade Organization negotiations in Doha, Qatar have made this fact even more apparent. The WTO is seeking to adopt a worldwide "Investor-State Clause" in the next round of discussions. This clause was written into Chapter 11 of the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) for the purpose of protecting businesses from expropriation by foreign governments. What it has been used for, however, is completely different from its originally stated purpose.

Cases such as Methanex v. United States and its progeny are dispositive of harmful effect of the unbridled power of ill thought out provisions of trade legislation. Methane, the producer of MTBE an additive used to make gasoline burn cleaner, was leaking from a storage tank and into the water supply in California. Governor Davis acted promptly, and after further testing banned MTBE. Methanex, a Canadian Corporation, brought an action against California/United States in July 1999, not in our courts, but pursuant to NAFTA's Chapter 11 foreign investor clause. According to William Greider's October 15th article in The Nation, "under this provision a foreign investor can sue a national government if their company's property assets, including the intangible property of expected profits, are damaged by laws or regulations of virtually any kind." Greider further reveals that Methanex, through its Washington D.C. powerhouse law firm, used tribunal established through NAFTA, where the proceeding are secret (unless the parties agree to public disclosure).

Greider goes on, "As nervous Members of Congress inquire into what they unwittingly created back in 1993, critics explain the implications: 'Multinational investors can randomly second-guess the legitimacy of environmental laws or any other public-welfare or economic regulation, including agency decisions, and even jury verdicts. . . . the open ended test is whether the regulation illegitimately injured a company's investments and can be construed as tantamount to expropriation, though no assets were physically taken.'"

This Chapter 11 case and many others like it are now pending and/or being heard before these arbitral panels. Methanex is seeking 970 million dollars. This is an outrage and an assault on our legal system. To add insult to injury, the drafter of the provision, now in private practice, readily admits that it was an intended consequence of NAFTA, rather an unintended consequence as most people believed it to be.

All cases finalized thus far have been either judged in favor of the business interest or settled out of court. The end result is a direct subversion of the right of people to protect from polluters the air they breathe, the water they drink, and the food they eat. In effect, this clause allows the democratic processes we hold so dear to be subverted.

Mr. Speaker, we must seek out ways to make trade compatible with conservation of the environment and by adhering to core labor and environmental standards that are both incorporated into the body of a trade agreement and enforceable.

A TRIBUTE TO MR. CAREY RAMIREZ

HON. NITA M. LOWEY

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mrs. LOWEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise in tribute to Carey Ramirez, one of the many true heroes who emerged from the devastation of September 11th.

Mr. Ramirez, a 25-year-old hospice nurse employed by the Hospice of New York and working out of the Margaret Tietz Center for Nursing Care Inpatient Hospice Unit, was on a bus, traveling to his NYU Nursing Education program at the time of the attack on the World Trade Center.

Seeing the smoke and flame, Mr. Ramirez urgently requested the bus driver to stop to allow him to investigate the situation. He was dressed in his nursing whites and carrying a stethoscope, and was anxious—like so many health care and rescue personnel—to help people in Lower Manhattan.

Mr. Ramirez, without hesitation or thought of his own well-being, found himself at the South Tower, identified himself to authorities and proceeded to look for individuals to assist. He was at 4 World Trade Center when the South Tower collapsed. With his own life in danger, he found and rescued two women, one of whom was blind.

Carey's heroic effort was captured by CNN and People magazine, and was also featured in U2's music video "Walk On". He was seen assisting both women—his arm locked with the arm of the blind woman, the other woman clinging to his backpack. All were covered with ash.

There were many such heroes on that terrible day. But what has impressed me about this young man is his continued unassuming demeanor and belief that he is not a hero—just a New Yorker who put other New Yorkers' well-being ahead of his own.

In my judgement, Carey Ramirez is a hero and I am pleased and honored to recognize him today.

TAKE THE FIELD REBUILDS HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETIC FIELDS IN NYC

HON. EDOLPHUS TOWNS

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mr. TOWNS. Mr. Speaker, on November 8 the House adopted the VA, HUD and Independent Agencies Appropriation Conference Report. This bill included an allocation of $500,000 for Take the Field, a tremendously worthwhile and effective program aimed at rebuilding the outdoor athletic fields of all New York City's public high schools.

I would like to thank the distinguished Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, Mr. YOUNG, my distinguished colleague from Wisconsin, Mr. OBEY, my distinguished colleague from New York, Mr. WALSH, the Chairman of the Veterans Affairs, HUD and Independent Agencies Subcommittee, and also the Ranking Minority Member, from West Virginia, Mr. MOLLOHAN, for their efforts in making this allocation possible.

I would also like to commend three extraordinary business and community leaders, Preston Robert Tisch, Richard Kahan and Tony Kiser, who founded this public/private partnership and have worked selflessly and relentlessly to promote its success. Thanks to their efforts, Take the Field is already off to a promising start. Seven outdoor athletic facilities—at least one in each borough—have already been rebuilt.

Take the Field is committed to rebuilding 52 of 60 outdoor facilities over a four-year period. The average cost of each field reconstruction project is $2 million, bringing the total cost just over $100 million. The $500,000 allocation that this bill provides will actually provide $2 million for Take the Field, thanks to the City of New York, which has provided this tremendous undertaking with a three to one challenge grant.

In the next few years, Take the Field can reverse more than a quarter of a century of neglect and deterioration of our public school athletic fields and provide students with access to a broad range of athletic activities that can improve their health, motivate their desire for academic excellence and keep them away from drugs and violence. The allocation contained in this bill will help accomplish this.

TRIBUTE TO SERGEANT DOUGLAS BAUM

HON. DUNCAN HUNTER

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mr. HUNTER. Mr. Speaker, today, as our Nation's armed forces make America proud by fighting the war on terrorism, I wanted to recognize the parents of a young man who gave his life for our country during the war in Vietnam. Clayton and Eleanor Baum live in my district, in La Mesa, California. Their son, Sergeant Douglas Baum, was killed on November 18, 1967, in the central highlands of South Vietnam, Dak To.

Sgt. Baum was 20 years old and, according to author Edward F. Murray, founder and president of the Medal of Honor Historical Society, was one of the most popular members of the Army's 173rd Airborne Brigade, Alpha Company 503. As a soldier, Sgt. Baum had earned the Army Commendation Medal, the Bronze Star, the Silver Star and the Purple Heart. Sgt. Baum was due for rotation and had begun to send his belongings to his parents when he was killed defending the lives of those in his squad.

After Sgt. Baum's death, members of the 173rd Airborne contacted Clayton and Eleanor to let them know how much Douglas meant to them, praising his bravery and leadership. People like Sgt. Darrell Cline, who has stayed in contact with the Baums and arranged for them to attend several of the national events for the 173rd, and Tom Means, a member of Sgt. Baum's squad who searched 25 years to meet Clayton and Eleanor just to tell them how much he thought of their son.

Those who attacked us on September 11th have severely underestimated the resolve of today's forces who carry on the legacy of soldiers like Sgt. Douglas Baum. America's military follows a proud tradition of service and dedication. Like those that came before them they fight to defend our country and they sacrifice to preserve our freedom. Clayton and Eleanor, words cannot express the gratefulness we have for Douglas' sacrifice. On behalf of a grateful country and community we say thank you, his service has helped make America strong.

FROM INFAMY TO A BETTER WORLD, REVISITING PEARL HAR-BOR

HON. JANICE D. SCHAKOWSKY

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Ms. SCHAKOWSKY. Mr. Speaker, I rise in remembrance and observance of Pearl Harbor Day, a terrible day in our country's history. On this day, 60 years ago, the greatest generation was called into action. They answered this call, and changed the world forever.

On the morning of Sunday, December 7, 1941, the Japanese fleet crossed the Pacific Ocean. They attacked and crippled the US Pacific Fleet. The attackers bombed our docked ships, and a nearby military airfield. Eight American battleships and 13 other naval vessels were sunk or badly damaged, almost 200 American aircraft were destroyed and approximately 3,000 naval and military personnel were killed or wounded. The attack marked the entrance of the United States into the war.

The Axis Powers marched across Europe toward world domination. The tripartite represented one of the darkest and most evil forces the world has ever known. Nazi Germany had begun the systematic extermination of Jewish men, women and children. The Axis Powers moved to conquer, rule, and destroy to gain the world, under a flag of greed and hate.

American forces joined freedom-loving nations already fighting. Our soldiers fought valiantly from the shores of Normandy to the Battle of Midway. They fought not to show U.S. might, nor to win possessions. The American soldiers fought to preserve and protect the right of people to live freely.

In the years following the defeat of the Axis Powers, the world would change shape. Borders would open, stimulating a wave of freedom strong enough to tear down walls and break barriers. People from different corners of the earth would be connected like never before. America would build a strong relationship with Japan and its other, and unite much of the world to destroy the vice of communism.

Today, Americans look upon the events of December 7, 1941 in a new light. In retrospect, we understand the distant stare that beset our father's, mother's, grandfather's, and grandmother's eyes as they told stories of where they were, and what they were doing on that day 60 years ago. It is with new ears that we hear the trembling voices that described the terror and uncertainty that jolted the country when an enemy attacked us on our ground. It is with gratitude and the utmost respect that we remember those who fought, and those who were lost for the love of our nation.

We move forward more vigilant, more aware, and more determined. As we pay tribute to those we lost at Pearl Harbor, we stand with a new pride in America. Our hopes and prayers go out to those who are deployed, even now, to carry the torch in the fight for freedom. At the dawning of a new day of uncertainty, we can look to the American values of freedom, justice, and equality to lead us to peace and security. We remember the bravery of our soldiers that suffered so, to make our world better.

WELCOMING OF THE CAPITOL HOLIDAY TREE

HON. JOHN D. DINGELL

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mr. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise this afternoon to share with my colleagues the remarkable story of the 2001 Capitol holiday tree. The holiday tree is a sixty-seven year old, 74-foot white spruce, that was cut on the Ottawa National Forest in the Western Upper Peninsula, in the great state of Michigan. Tonight at 5:00 p.m., the Speaker will throw a switch and illuminate this magnificent tree for the world to see.

It is with a great sense of pride that I inform my colleagues that this is the fifth time that the state of Michigan has provided the Capitol holiday tree. This year's tree is aptly named the "Tree of Hope," and will be displayed on the lawn of the U.S. Capitol until early January.

Before arriving in Washington, D.C., the tree traveled throughout Michigan and stopped in 10 communities, including beautiful Monroe, in my congressional District.

The tree will be decorated with 6,000 handcrafted ornaments provided by Michigan residents. And I would draw my colleagues' particular attention to the beautiful ornament provided by Monroe County Community College, a fine institution of higher learning in Michigan's 16th District. The ornament was designed by Jerry Morse, the graphic arts designer at the college, and constructed by Matt and Pam Hart of Temperance. I ask my colleagues to join me in recognizing this fine craftsmanship.

The Tree of Hope is a beautiful symbol of Michigan's vision of peace and optimism for the new millennium. The people of Michigan have provided their unique wishes and dreams of a better tomorrow with the 6,000 handcrafted ornaments that will adorn the tree. It is a fitting message of peace for the holiday season.

I ask my colleagues to join me in recognizing the Capitol holiday tree from the great state of Michigan, and the magnificent ornament from Monroe.

BIPARTISAN TRADE PROMOTION AUTHORITY ACT OF 2001

SPEECH OF

HON. TOM UDALL

OF NEW MEXICO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, December 6, 2001

Mr. UDALL of New Mexico. Mr. Speaker, I believe that international trade is very important to improving our nation's economy and would gladly vote for a bill encouraging Fair Trade around the globe. I have been proud to cast pro-trade votes in this House before; however, I cannot support the Thomas bill, and I urge my colleagues to vote no. If given the chance, I would like to have an up or down vote on the Rangel substitute, but the Majority has produced an unfair, undemocratic rule, with little meaningful debate allowed.

I support trade agreements that provide important safeguards to protect the rights of American working families as well as the rights of our trading partners' workers. I also support trade agreements that protect the global environment. I cannot, however, support this Fast Track authority because it will weaken our ability to exercise our Constitutional duty to provide oversight of the executive branch. I believe that any special authority granted to the President should be conditioned upon certain basic requirements that the United States only enter into agreements that are mindful of the need to protect the workers in all countries participating in the agreement as well as the global environment. These safeguards must be in the core text of the bill, not promised in future negotiations.

I believe, though, that our debate today is about more than H.R. 3005. The Majority Party has failed to provide for our nation's immediate needs. Our country has many pressing, economic needs that remain unmet by the Leadership of this House. We must act now to raise the living standards of workers—both here at home, and abroad. The time to act is long overdue.

The Majority Party has done nothing to address many of those needs. It has done nothing to help the thousands of unemployed Americans who have lost their jobs in the Bush recession. It has done nothing to help workers with their emergency health care needs. It has done nothing to pass an economic stimulus that really helps working families.

I urge my colleagues to vote no on the Thomas bill, and I urge the Majority to give us a fair vote on a fair trade bill—the Rangel substitute.

AMENDING INTERNAL REVENUE CODE TO SIMPLIFY REPORTING

SPEECH OF

HON. DONALD A. MANZULLO

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 4, 2001

Mr. MANZULLO. Mr. Speaker, of the many Federal regulations with which colleges and universities are required to comply, one of the most onerous is that associated with the HOPE scholarship and lifetime learning tax credit. Originally enacted as part of the Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997, the tax credits were intended to give parents back more of their hard-earned money, up to $1,500 for the first 2 years of college, so that they could better afford to send their children to school.

While we were successful in providing, this tax relief for students and families, we discovered an unintended consequence: an unfunded mandate burdening colleges, trade schools, community colleges, and universities in the form of a reporting requirement administered by the IRS.

I became aware of this regulatory issue during the fall of 1997. I was discussing several concerns with Dr. La Tourette, president of Northern Illinois University. While talking about the merits of the HOPE scholarship, he dropped the bombshell on me and informed us of the new Federal requirements forcing all 6,000 institutions of higher education in this country to collect unprecedented information on their students and disseminate that information to the IRS.

I knew compliance with the reporting requirement would be expansive and expensive and would ultimately be borne by the very families that they were trying to help with the HOPE scholarship program. Both large and small institutions have been hit hard by the reporting requirement. The cost to schools to implement and abide by these regulations will soar into the hundreds of millions of dollars. And, of course, they will be passed on to the consumers of education, which are the parents and the students.

Since my conversation with Dr. La Tourette, I have worked with members of the higher education community and with Commissioner Charles Rossotti of the IRS to simplify the reporting requirements and ease the burden of the regulations on the colleges and universities of this country. Today, I am proud to say that H.R. 3346 is the product of a partnership that evolved between the IRS, the Treasury Department, the higher education community, and myself, and this can serve as a model for how we can positively impact higher education in the future by working together.

Specifically, while H.R. 3346 maintains the reporting requirement, the bill eliminates certain elements of the law such as reporting a third party's Social Security number, and changes others, such as allowing schools to report the amount students are billed or the amount they are paid. It is my hope that the simplifications instituted as part of H.R. 3346 will make the reporting significantly easier on colleges and universities.

Early estimates from Northern Illinois University predict that as a result of the passage of this bill, this school could avoid a one-time cost of approximately $90,000. This includes the costs of program computer systems to accommodate requirements included in the original legislation that are not included in the pending legislation, as well as what it would cost initially to implement Social Security number reporting of the taxpayer claiming the student as a dependent.

Additionally, the university would have incurred ongoing costs on an annual basis for solicitation and data entry of the student-reported information, and those costs are estimated at $30,000 a year. The University of California's system expects to save $1 million in the first year alone as a result of H.R. 3346. Overall, the savings the schools will attain as a result of this legislation are very significant. When we consider that most institutions of higher education would incur costs of similar proportion, the impact is particularly traumatic.

I would be remiss if I did not take a moment to heartily thank Commissioner Rossotti with whom we met on no less than three different occasions in order to fashion this legislation. I also want to thank Judy Dunn, Curt Wilson and Beverly Babers of the staff. I would like to thank Northern Illinois University, both former president Dr. La Tourette and current president Dr. John Peters and Kathe Shinham from the school for their insights and efforts as we have worked to craft this legislation. This bill is a memorial to Dr. Ruth Mercedes-Smith, former president of Highland Community College, who was killed in a car accident several months ago. Her support for our work was invaluable. Also, Dr. Chappelaine of Rock Valley Community College, Dr. LaVista of McHenry Community College, Jacquelyn Ito-Woo of the University of California, and Mary Bachinger and Anne Gross of the National Association of Colleges and University Business Officers. All of these groups worked tirelessly together in order to craft the legislation. It took us 4 years to do it. During that period of time, the IRS worked with us, they withheld the implementation of these regulations because they knew that the goal was worthy. Lastly, I want to thank Sarah Giddens of our staff who, for 4 years, tirelessly worked on this legislation, dogging it dot by dot, i by i, in the hundreds of meetings, literally, that she had and the hours that she poured into this piece of legislation.

Mr. Speaker, it is a great piece of legislation. Instead of spending money on regulatory compliance, the schools can spend that money doing what they do best, and that is educating the kids.

TRIBUTE TO DANIEL HENRY PETITHORY

HON. JOHN W. OLVER

OF MASSACHUSETTS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mr. OLVER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Sergeant 1st Class Daniel Henry Petithory. Sergeant Petithory was killed December 5, 2001, while serving in the Army's Fifth Special Forces Group near Kandahar, Afghanistan as part of Operation Enduring Freedom. He was one of the first military casualties of the conflict in Afghanistan.

Sergeant Petithory was born and raised in Cheshire, MA, in northern Berkshire County. A graduate of Hoosac Valley High School, he enlisted in the Army upon graduating from high school in 1987.

He attended Air Assault School at Fort Rucker, AL, and later served as a military police officer stationed at Fort McClelland, AL. He was a member of the special reaction team at Fort McClelland.

Sergeant Petithory served in contingency operations in Kuwait, Haiti, Africa, and throughout southwest Asia. He became a Green Beret, and at the time of his death he was serving as a communications expert with the Fifth Special Forces Group stationed at Fort Campbell, KY.

He leaves behind his parents, Louis and Barbara Petithory of Cheshire, a brother, Michael, and a sister, Nicole.

Our Armed Forces were deployed to Afghanistan in our struggle against international terrorism, Daniel Petithory died to help bring freedom to the Afghan people, and he fought to guarantee the peace and security for all American citizens.

Daniel Petithory's death is a great loss for his hometown and his country. America owes him a tremendous debt for his work protecting our Nation and fighting terrorism. Sergeant Petithory's willingness to risk his life in service to his country demonstrates his courage and patriotism. His heroism will not be forgotten.

TRIBUTE TO JOHN H. "JACK" RUST, JR.

HON. TOM DAVIS

OF VIRGINIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mr. TOM DAVIS of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to John H. "Jack" Rust Jr., who for the last 4½ years has represented Virginia's 37th House District in the General Assembly with flair and acumen. While Jack's tenure in the state House comes to an end in January 2002, his contributions to his constituents will remain for decades to come.

Elected to Virginia's House of Delegates in December 1996, Jack served on both the Joint Subcommittee to Study Revising the State Tax Code and the Finance Subcommittee Studying Tax Structure. From there, he championed a restructuring of Virginia's tax system because he saw an opportunity to bring a more equitable share of state revenues back to Fairfax County by changing the way income taxes are collected and distributed.

Quickly assuming a high-visibility position within the Assembly, Jack's clout came from his intelligence and legislative expertise. Understanding that legislating is about inclusion, not exclusion, Jack was able to move beyond the usual rhetoric of the political process and work with his Democratic counterparts to negotiate compromises and build coalitions that resulted in many legislative victories for Northern Virginia. Able to quickly grasp any situation and understand all of the nuances of a particular piece of legislation, Jack earned a rock-solid reputation for taking a quiet and measured approach to the most controversial of issues.

I also want to acknowledge Jack's efforts to bring new voters into the political process. He was a leading force behind the creation of the Commonwealth's first majority Hispanic district, and held dozens of town hall meetings with Asian, Latino, and African-American leaders. He encouraged the printing of sample ballots in Spanish and Korean. And he did these things without fanfare or bravado, because that was his style. This is the rare public servant who cares more about doing good than getting credit.

Mr. Speaker, in closing, I want to emphasize that Jack Rust, in only a few terms, has enough public accomplishments to last a lifetime. I know my colleagues will join me in congratulating and thanking Jack for all he has done for the city of Fairfax, Fairfax County, and the Commonwealth of Virginia, and wish him the best in his future endeavors.

SAFEGUARDING FREEDOM AND DEMOCRACY

HON. JANICE D. SCHAKOWSKY

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Ms. SCHAKOWSKY. Mr. Speaker, it is with great pride that I rise to honor and thank the U.S. Capitol Police for their around the clock commitment to maintaining the safety and security of the U.S. Capitol, Members of Congress and the thousands of staff and visitors who occupy the grounds daily.

On September 11, the USCP rose to the challenge. In the face of uncertainty and while our nation was under attack, the men and women of the Capitol Police remained behind as the Capitol compound was evacuated, while working to ensure our safety. On that day, every member of the House and Senate, staff, and visitors witnessed the bravery and commitment of the Capitol Police.

Today we mark three months since the terrorist attacks on the Pentagon and New York City. Since 9-11, twelve-hour days, six-day weeks, overtime and cancelled vacations are the norm, not the exception for the Capitol Police. This resolution, H. Res. 309, is a small token signifying that your dedication and personal sacrifices have not gone unnoticed. I thank you for your service to us, to our community and to our great nation and I urge all Members to vote in support of this important resolution.

GEORGE WILL ON "A PLAN FOR ARAFAT"

HON. TOM LANTOS

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mr. LANTOS. Mr. Speaker, last weekend was a particularly horrible chapter in the ongoing strife in the Middle East. In a wave of violence, Palestinian terrorist suicide bombers killed 25 innocent Israeli children, women, and men as they were going about their daily activities—walking in a pedestrian mall and riding a public bus. The terrorist organization, Hamas, has taken "credit" for these deplorable acts. Their targeting civilians of all ages and walks of life is part of their cowardly and vicious attempt to destroy the State of Israel. Such acts cannot be tolerated.

Mr. Speaker, George F. Will has written a particularly insightful piece in the December 4th issue of the Washington Post. He spells out the misguided and dangerous actions of Yasser Arafat and the Palestinian Authority which have prevented peace from being attained in that very volatile region of the world, and he stresses the need for Israel aggressively to protect herself.

Where hope for a peaceful Middle East settlement once existed after the Madrid Conference in 1991 and the Oslo Agreement in 1993, we now find an environment of hate for Israel and the United States which has been fertilized and nourished by such debacles as the United Nations World Conference Against Racism, which was held in Durban, South Africa last summer.

Mr. Speaker, I was present at Durban for this conference, and I fully concur with George Will's assessment that this was truly not a conference against racism, but rather a racist conference! I have rarely seen such anti-Semitic and anti-Israel venom spewed as I did at that conference. Because of the level of hatred and the lack of fairness, the United States Government walked out of the conference. I was greatly disappointed that we had no choice but to walk out because this was an opportunity to deal meaningfully with the many problems of racism, discrimination, and xenophobia which the world faces. Instead of addressing these problems, the conference was hijacked by Arab extremists determined to single out and politically punish Israel, our only democratic ally in the Middle East.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to read George Will's excellent and thought-provoking article, and I ask that the text be placed in the RECORD.

[From the Washington Post, Dec. 4, 2001]

A PLAN FOR ARAFAT

(By George F. Will)

Coming from the territory for which Yasser Arafat is responsible, terrorists last weekend killed 26 Israelis, a portion of Israel's population that is equal to 1,240 Americans. America is projecting power halfway around the world to collapse the Taliban regime because it harbors terrorists. It would be disgusting for America to call for Israeli "restraint" and to disapprove if Israel cleanses its back yard of Arafat's Palestinian Authority regime that welcomes terrorists except when, to distract America, it yet again promises to pass a few through the revolving doors of PA jails.

It is time for a novel approach to the war between Israel and Arafat's Palestinian Authority. The approach should begin with wisdom from a Donald Westlake crime novel mordantly titled "What's The Worst That Could Happen?" Westlake's amiable crooks want to rob a Las Vegas Casino, but don't know how. One of them says he has a lot of ideas, but Westlake writes: "A whole lot of ideas isn't a plan. . . . Ideas without a plan is usually just enough boulders to get you into the deep part of the stream, and no way to get back."

The latest U.S. idea is to send retired Marine Gen. Anthony Zinni to pick up the shards of the last idea, which was to send CIA Director George Tenet to implement former Senator George Mitchell's idea for a cease-fire followed by a cooling-off period followed by "confidence-building" measures. The idea of the Mitchell plan is that neither side is to blame—neither Israel, which wants to exist, nor the Palestinians who do not want it to; neither the Palestinians who want to plant nail bombs on buses, nor Israel, which would prefer the Palestinians not do that. Rather, a mutual lack of "confidence" is to blame.

There is this much truth in that idea: the Palestinian Authority lacks confidence in Israel's willingness to commit suicide, and Israel lacks confidence that the PA will stop insisting on suicide as part of a "peace" agreement.

The idea behind dispatching Mitchell was to pick up where Dennis Ross left off. (Did you know that Donald Rumsfeld was special emissary to the Israeli-Palestinian conflict in 1983-84? There were many emissaries before him, and have been many since.) Ross's task, which he undertook with the energy and wisdom of a beaver, was to oversee the Oslo "peace process," which turned on Arafat's renunciation of violence. That process has required lots of overseeing, considering that terrorists have killed more Israelis in the eight years since Oslo began in 1993 than in the 45 years of Israel's existence before that.

The idea behind Oslo was for Israel to "take a risk for peace"—as though getting on a bus, visiting a pizzeria or disco, and walking down a street are not risky enough for Israelis. Israel would take a risk by yielding something tangible, control of land, for something intangible, Arafat's promises of peace. Israel did that. The current war refutes the Oslo idea.

The idea behind Oslo was to capitalize on the "spirit of Madrid," an Israeli-Palestinian conference convened in 1991, in the aftermath of the Gulf War. The idea behind Madrid was. . . . Does anyone remember?

You must remember this. On Aug. 31, Arafat, world's senior terrorist, did a star turn—at one point strolling with America's senior friend of terrorists, Jesse Jackson—in Durban, South Africa, at a U.N. orgy of hate directed against Israel and the United States and bearing an Orwellian title: World Conference Against Racism, Racial Discrimination, Xenophobia and Related Intolerance. It was the kind of sewer of ideas that prepares the climate for the sort of things that happened in America 11 days after the conference opened, and what happened last weekend in Israel.

Now Israel should be as bold in its self-defense as America is being in its. In 1982, Israel drove Arafat and his thugs from Lebanon to Tunisia. He and his thugocracy have earned another expulsion from the eastern end of the Mediterranean. If he cannot control his territory, it is in anarchy and Israel must subdue it. If he can control it but won't, he has earned expulsion under the principle America cites in expelling the Taliban from power.

If expulsion strikes the U.S. State Department as, well, immoderate, here is a moderate version of the idea. When next the peripatetic Arafat flies off to visit world capitals, Israel should not let him come back: He cannot land in PA territory if Israel does not let him.

That is more than an idea. It is a plan.

THE HEALTH CARE SAFETY NET
IMPROVEMENT ACT OF 2001

HON. FRED UPTON

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mr. UPTON. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of the Health Care Safety Net Improvement Act of 2001. This legislation reauthorizes the Consolidated Health Centers program, the National Health Service Corps, and several programs vital to access to care in rural America. It also provides statutory authority for and direction to the Health Resources and Services Administration's Office for the Advancement of Telehealth and provides for a study on overcoming the barriers that many migrant farm workers and their families experience in seeking health care services as they move from state to state. Taken together, these programs and activities will help to strengthen our nation's health care delivery system by improving access to care and quality of care in our rural and inner-city medically underserved communities.

Health centers are located in 3,000 rural and urban communities throughout the country and provide quality primary and preventive health services to over 10 million low-income and uninsured patients. With the number of uninsured in this nation growing by more than 100,000 per month, it is estimated that 53 million people will lack health insurance by 2007. Health centers have played and will continue to play a vital role in addressing this serious problem.

We are fortunate in my Southwest Michigan district to have two strong networks of community and migrant health centers providing care to over 40,000 people. These centers and the people they serve benefit greatly from the doctors and dentists who are participating in the National Health Service Corps Loan Repayment program.

As Chairman of the Energy and Commerce Committee's Telecommunications and the Internet Subcommittee and a senior member of its Health Subcommittee, I have been particularly interested in the role that rapidly emerging telehealth technologies can play in increasing access to care and quality of care in rural and inner-city America. I was pleased to work with my colleagues on the Committee to include provisions in the Health Care Safety Net Improvement Act formally authorizing the Office for the Advancement of Telehealth (OAT). The OAT is currently the focal point for the telehealth activities and programs across federal agencies. It was instrumental in the formation of the Joint Working Group on telemedicine, for which it provides both leadership and staffing.

One of the greatest barriers to recruiting physicians to our rural communities is the sense of isolation they may feel in their practices. Telehealth services can address that barrier by linking rural primary care physicians and their patients with specialists in major medical centers across the nation. Further, one of the looming threats to access to care and quality of care is the growing shortage of nurses, pharmacists, and clinical laboratory personnel. Telehealth services can address this problem by bringing education and training programs right into local communities.

I hope everyone will join me today in strongly supporting the Health Care Safety Net Improvement Act. This bipartisan, thoughtful and innovative legislation will improve access to care and quality of care for millions in urban and rural America.

STATEMENT IN SUPPORT OF THE NURSE REINVESTMENT ACT

HON. JOSEPH R. PITTS

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this important legislation, the Nurse Reinvestment Act, to help relieve America's nursing shortage.

Every American should be concerned about the growing shortage of nurses. Just as more Americans are reaching their golden years, fewer nurses are graduating from nursing schools to provide them the quality health care they earned and deserve.

Less well known, but of equal severity and concern, is the fact that there is a shortage of nurse anesthetists in America. Certified Registered Nurse Anesthetists, or CRNAs, provide 65 percent of anesthetics in the U.S., and are the sole anesthesia provider to 70 percent of U.S. rural hospitals. They are the military's predominant anesthesia provider, especially on U.S. Navy ships and at forward-deployed locations, serving our men and women in uniform as we are united in America's war on terror. They are registered nurses, who go on to complete masters-level education and certification in nurse anesthesia, and are considered a type of advanced practice nurse, licensed to practice in all 50 states. America's 28,000 CRNAs meet the most stringent continuing education and recertification requirements in anesthesia care. And with all this, the Institute of Medicine reported in its landmark survey of medical errors, To Err Is Human, that anesthesia care is 50 times safer than 20 years ago.

And there are not enough CRNAs today. The growth in the number of Medicare-eligible Americans compounds the growth in the number of surgical procedures requiring anesthetics. A 2001 survey of nurse anesthetist managers reported a 250 percent increase in CRNA vacancies among those managers reporting vacancies just since 1997. America's 83 accredited schools of nurse anesthesia are graduating more CRNAs, just not enough to keep up with growing demand. In real life, this means surgeries get delayed, operating rooms lie unused, and hospitals and patients suffer, for a lack of a sufficient number of nurse anesthetists. We simply need to educate more of them.

This important legislation helps relieve the nursing shortage, and the CRNA shortage, in several important ways. It expands the authorization of the existing Nurse Loan Repayment program, so that nurses, including CRNAs, can work off their obligations in a greater range of health care sites with shortages, such as rural hospitals, Ambulatory Surgical Centers, and Critical Access Hospitals. It authorizes scholarships for nurses, including CRNAs, who agree to work in shortage areas. It provides important new incentives to educate nursing faculty, and to reach out to young people with the information they need to consider nursing as a positive, challenging, and life-changing career that is both economically secure and flexible.

This is only the beginning of our work on relieving this critical shortage. In 2002, Congress is due to consider reauthorizing of existing nurse education programs, Title VIII of the Public Health Service Act. I hope that as we reauthorize the Title VIII programs, we can look for creative ways to expand the number of nurses in America, while growing our ranks of advanced practice nurses such as nurse anesthetists.

I want to thank several Members for their excellent work on this bill; Chairman BILLY TAUZIN and Ranking Member JOHN DINGELL of the Energy and Commerce Committee and Chairman MICHAEL BILIRAKIS and Ranking Member SHERROD BROWN of the Subcommittee on Health, as well as Congresswomen KELLY and CAPPS, original cosponsors of this legislation.

EXPRESSING SENSE OF CONGRESS
HONORING THE CREW AND PAS-SENGERS OF UNITED AIRLINES
FLIGHT 93

SPEECH OF

HON. NANCY PELOSI

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, December 5, 2001

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Speaker, I am honored to be a cosponsor of this resolution memorializing the heroic crew and passengers of United Airlines Flight 93.

On September 11, as the fourth hijacked airplane, United Flight 93, flew west and then southeast, the passengers called friends and family on the ground. They learned the terrible news: hijackers had crashed three other airplanes into the World Trade Center towers and the Pentagon. They knew their plane would also be turned into a fearsome weapon.

The hijackers underestimated the indomitability of the American spirit. We may never know the whole story of the events on Flight 93 after the hijackers seized control. However, the phone calls and the cockpit voice recorder have given us the heart of it: the passengers and crew knew they had to act, and they did. They talked, and they prayed, and then they rushed the cockpit to try to stop the hijackers. A few minutes later, the plane crashed to the ground in rural Pennsylvania.

The nation salutes the crew and passengers of Flight 93 for their bravery in the face of overwhelming danger and almost certain death. If the flight had continued on its path toward the Nation's Capital, many more lives would have been lost. We might also have lost either the U.S. Capitol or the White House, the most powerful symbols of our nation, and known the world over as symbols of the world's greatest democracy.

I especially wish to acknowledge the heroism of Mark Bingham from San Francisco. Six feet five inches tall, Mark had played rugby in college. At thirty-one years old, he was CEO of his own public relations firm. On the street late one night, he had wrestled a gun from the hands of a mugger. He was a risk-taker, a man who lived life to the fullest. I had the opportunity to join his partner, Paul Holm, and his family and friends in celebrating his life at a memorial service in San Francisco. Our hearts go out to them for their loss of this brave man.

House Concurrent Resolution 232 expresses the sense of the Congress that the United States owes its deepest gratitude to the passengers and crew of Flight 93, and calls for the placement of a memorial plaque on the grounds of the U.S. Capitol. It is with both great sadness and deep appreciation that I cast my vote for this resolution.

IN HONOR OF FR. JAMES E. GOODE
OFM, PH.D.

HON. EDOLPHUS TOWNS

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mr. TOWNS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in honor of Father James E. Goode, OFM, Ph.D. in recognition of his dedication and commitment to his community, his faith, and in his work in the battle against AIDS.

Father James E. Goode, OFM, Ph.D. is the leading Black Catholic Evangelist in the United States. He is known as the Dean of Black Catholic Evangelists having preached the first Black Catholic Revival in America (1974). The first Black Catholic Revival was held at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church in the Archdiocese of Chicago. Father Goode has preached all over the world and is one of the most sought after African American Catholic priests. Father Goode and Rev. Jesse Jackson preached at the Vatican during the Black American Voices in Rome celebration, an event that was sponsored by the Vatican and the City of Rome.

Father Goode was an elected member of the New York City Community School Board in District 16 for two terms. He was the former President of the San Francisco Housing Authority Commission. He also headed the first San Francisco Mayor's Task Force on Drug Addiction and served as a Commissioner for Children, Youth and Families. He was also a Commissioner for the San Francisco Delinquency Prevention Commission, as well as the San Francisco AIDS Council.

Father Goode is a native of Roanoke, Virginia and a proud Franciscan Friar of the Order of Friars Minor, Province of the Immaculate Conception in New York City (ordained May 13, 1974, NYC). He has earned his Doctor of Philosophy, with a major in Psychology, from Union Graduate School, his Master of Theology, from the University of the State of New York, St. Anthony Theological Seminary, his Master of Divinity, from the University of the State of New York, St. Anthony Theological Seminary, his Master of Arts in Educational Psychology: from the College of Saint Rose, Albany, New York, and his Bachelor of Arts, from the University of the State of New York, Immaculate Conception Seminary.

He was the Founding Pastor of the Faith Community of Black Catholics, Our Lady of Charity (1974) in the Diocese of Brooklyn. Under his leadership this declining parish came alive and became authentically Black and Catholic. Our Lady of Charity became a model for Black Catholic worship, education, community outreach and ecumenism. Father Goode assisted the larger Black Catholic Community of Brooklyn by serving on many boards and councils. He was the first chairman of the Office of Black Ministry in the Diocese of Brooklyn. By God's grace and mercy and through Father Jim Goode's gift of preaching and healing, thousands have come home to the Catholic faith. His motto: "Blessed Assurance Jesus is mine and no matter how hard the task or how difficult the moment I am ready to go in your name". He is a longtime activist and leader of Social Justice and Peace. His untiring efforts to combat and correct some of society's most urgent problems have been his life's mission. This activism has led him to develop the 1st Annual AIDS Summit for Black Catholics on Saturday, December 1, 2001. The theme of the conference is: "Lift every life, help is on the way."

Mr. Speaker, Franciscan Father Jim Goode's entire priestly life has been dedicated to the spiritual and psychological growth and development of his people. He is a voice for the voiceless in their quest for human rights. As such, he is more than worthy of receiving our recognition today and I urge my colleagues to join me in honoring this truly remarkable man.

DENNIS O'DELL; VETERANS COME FIRST!

HON. BOB FILNER

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mr. FILNER. Mr. Speaker and colleagues, I rise today to recognize and honor Mr. Dennis O'Dell of San Diego County who has been selected as the winner of the 2001 Maxine Waters Award for Courage, to be presented by AMVETS Post #66 on January 12, 2002 in Cathedral City, California.

Dennis O'Dell is a resident of my Congressional District. He was born in September, 1949 in Maryville, Missouri to Doris V. Shell O'Dell and Norman C. O'Dell. His father was awarded the Purple Heart, the Bronze Star, and the European-African-Middle East Theater Campaign Medal, along with others honors. Dennis was raised in El Segundo, California and attended El Segundo High, El Camino College in Torrance, and Penn Valley College in West Los Angeles.

He served in the United States Marine Corps and received his honorable discharge in 1969. He began a career as a policeman in Missouri in 1979 and, after being wounded three years later, he became a business owner in Missouri.

However, his roots were calling him back to California, and he returned in 1983, working for a Security Company in Beverly Hills and for the Santa Monica Airport Police. In 1986, he went to work for the Department of Veterans Affairs as a Police Officer, was promoted to Police Detective a year later, and to Criminal Investigator in 1993. While working on criminal cases at the West LA VA Medical Center, Long Beach VA Medical Center, and the Sepulveda VA Medical Center, he had a conviction rate of 90%. He retired from the VA Police Department in 1995 after re-injuring his old wound while arresting three suspects who were attempting to sell drugs on the VA hospital grounds, and he has dedicated the past several years to veterans' causes. He is also a champion of the rights of workers, serving for several years as Union President/Business Agent of American Federation of Government Employees (AFGE), Local 1061, at all veterans' hospitals in Southern California. He won 90% of his labor grievances with management during his term and helped to bring the Union local out of trusteeship and return it to the members.

Dennis has been a Life Member of the California Narcotic Officers Association and of AMVETS Post#2 in Culver City. He is a member of the VVA Chapter #53 in Redondo Beach, the American Legion Post #46 in Culver City, the Marine Corps League of San Diego East County, the Hermosa Beach Veterans Memorial Commission, the AMVETS National Committee on Homeless Veterans, the Advisory Committee of the VA Greater Los Angeles Health Care System, and the Los Angeles County Veterans Advisory Committee. He has held elective office of the California Democratic Veterans Caucus.

He serves on the Board of New Directions, a long-term program for homeless veterans with drug and alcohol addiction with a spectacular success rate of 85%. He helped New Directions raise $5 million to restore a 60,000 sq. foot, three story building with the assistance of Congresswoman MAXINE WATERS and Senator DIANNE FEINSTEIN, and helped to guide the donation of a new state of the art kitchen by AMVETS Department of California Service Foundation.

Dennis is immediate Past State Commander of AMVETS, which has over 10,000 members in California. During his term, more women, people of color and gays joined AMVETS than any period in history. He also served AMVETS as Post #2 Commander, District 2 Finance Officer, Southern Area Commander, California Department Commander, and Trustee of the AMVETS Department of California Service Foundation.

Through his participation in these many organizations, his achievements for veterans are too numerous to mention. He helped to get Veterans' Memorials in Hermosa Beach and in Palm Springs, and wheel chair buses for the VA in West Los Angeles and for the State Veterans Home in Chula Vista. He has handed out over 4000 blankets to homeless veterans, he started a web site for California AMVETS, and helped in writing a Veteran Plank for the California Democratic Party Platform.

The Maxine Waters Award for Courage, which Dennis is receiving, is named for Congresswoman MAXINE WATERS, Representative of California's 35th Congressional District who has been invited to attend the award ceremony. Dennis made headlines when he gave a key to Congresswoman WATERS so she could make an unannounced inspection of a VA hospital locked-down psychiatric ward. The Congresswoman found the conditions deplorable, and sweeping reform took place. Dennis has shown other courageous action by walking with MAXINE WATERS and the Rev. Jesse Jackson, with the news media, from his union headquarters to the Director's Office of the West Los Angeles VA Medical Center to hand over thousands of pages of documents to the Director showing the alleged misappropriation of funds and misuse of VA land at this Medical Center. He undertakes these courageous actions despite the fact that he has had severe heart problems.

As a Member of the House of Representatives Veterans' Affairs Committee, I thank Dennis O'Dell for his dedication and for his achievements on behalf of our nation's veterans. I am pleased to recognize Dennis O'Dell for his service to veterans and to congratulate him as the recipient of the Maxine Waters Award for Courage.

IN HONOR OF MARCUS R. HABEEB

HON. EDOLPHUS TOWNS

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mr. TOWNS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in honor of Marcus R. Habeeb in recognition of his dedication and commitment to creating funding opportunities for those in need.

Marcus R. Habeeb is a proud product of New York's education system. As he tried to decide on a career path, he received a paralegal certificate from Adelphi University. Once he recognized that the law was not for him, he changed his focus and received a Finance degree from Baruch College, followed by a Master's of Business Administration from the same institution.

Over the past twenty years, Marcus has developed and broadened the scope of his expertise. Beginning in 1980, as an Accounts Receivable/Computer Operator, Marcus has steadily increased his responsibility and broadened his portfolio. He followed his first job, with a position as an Assistant Controller, where he was responsible for the financial management of a fine jewelry manufacturer. A few years later, he moved on to a position as a Chief Financial Officer, for a company in a difficult financial situation. Marcus was able to work with the bank and other creditors to recover potentially large losses. He moved from this position to Senior Vice-Presidency for a financial institution. While there he built a small Asian bank into a very important player on Wall Street. In his next position, he expanded his scope of responsibilities yet again, as the Operations Manager for Hometrust Mortgage Bank. While there, Marcus began to focus increasingly on marketing strategies, investor relations, and home mortgages. He has used this experience, most recently, in creating his own business, P & R Funding. Finally, Marcus is able to bring together all of the knowledge that he has accrued over his twenty year journey to independence to focus on developing financing and business products for those in need.

Marcus is also the proud husband, of fifteen years to Annie, and the father of two children.

Mr. Speaker, Marcus R. Habeeb has dedicated himself to business and his community. As such, he is more than worthy of receiving this recognition today and I urge my colleagues to join me in honoring this truly remarkable man.

IN HONOR OF JAMES BUTLER

HON. EDOLPHUS TOWNS

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mr. TOWNS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in honor of James Butler in recognition of his lifetime of outstanding service.

Jim Butler, is the President of a 10,000 member union, Local 420 Municipal Hospital Workers Union, DC 37, AFSCME, AFL-CIO. He has had a lifelong interest in the living and working conditions of the people around him. For over 40 years he has played a leadership role in the struggle to improve those conditions.

Since beginning his career at Local 420 as a union organizer in 1954, Butler has been a tireless fighter for better pay, health, education and other benefits for hospital employees. Gains for workers in these areas are the most obvious marks of his leadership. "I never felt better," said President Butler, "than when we were able to win respect for hospital workers."

Over the last several years, Jim Butler and his local have waged a battle against threats to privatize public hospitals in New York City. The Local saw their efforts pay off with a victory in stopping the privatization of Coney Island Hospital, and the recent victory in saving Brooklyn Central Laundry, and 200 member jobs with no layoffs. Jim Butler is currently engaged in a boycott at several hospitals against the contracting out of employee cafeterias to fast food operation such as McDonald's and Burger King.

No less important, however, are his contributions to the community which the hospital workers serve. Butler has been the driving force behind the union's frequent demonstrations and rallies for social justice. Under his leadership, Local 420's political action also makes itself felt in voter education and registration drives. Annually the Local registers thousands of voters and directly involves hundreds of union members in political campaigns. The Local was a key supporter in the historic campaign to elect the first African-American Mayor of the City of New York, the Honorable David N. Dinkins.

Jim Butler has long been part of the struggle for equal opportunity for minorities within the labor movement through active membership in the Coalition of Black Trade Unionists, PUSH, NAACP, Urban League, and SCLC Labor Committees. He served on the executive board of CBTU's New York Chapter. He also served as a member of the New York Consumer Assembly's Board of Directors.

Butler is the recipient of numerous awards and honors from civil rights, labor and community organizations, including the Labor Committee of the NAACP, the New York and Jamaica (Queens) chapters of the NAACP, the CBTU New York Chapter, Memphis Municipal Workers Local 1733, the Coalitions of Labor Unions Women, New York State's Black and Puerto Rican Caucus, the Hispanic Labor Committee, the Harlem YMCA, Queensborough Women's Clubs, the Negro Labor Council, the Community Leadership Network, and Central Baptist Church's honor for Outstanding Christian Leader.

Jim Butler has been the President of Local 420 for 27 years and on August 18, 1999 he was elected as a International Vice President to the "mother union", AFSCME. Jim resides in Astoria, Queens, NY with his wife, Eloise.

Mr. Speaker, because of his dedication to helping health care workers and fighting for social justice, Jim Butler is more than worthy of receiving our recognition today and I urge my colleagues to join me in honoring this truly remarkable leader.

IN MEMORY OF BONNIE SCANLAN

HON. XAVIER BECERRA

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mr. BECERRA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay a heartfelt tribute to Bonnie Scanlan, a dear friend and civic-minded individual who worked tirelessly for the community of Echo Park in the City of Los Angeles, California. On Sunday, October 7, 2001, we lost Bonnie after a characteristically valiant fight for life following a massive heart attack. Bonnie was laid to rest Saturday, October 13, 2001 at Rose Hills Cemetery in Whittier, California; we are comforted knowing that today she rests in peace.

Bonnie Susan Gerzofsky was born in Brooklyn, New York on January 28, 1946 to Molly and Leonard Gerzofsky, already parents to toddler Stan. When she was in the fifth grade her family moved to Alhambra, California. From All Souls Catholic School and San Gabriel Mission High School, Bonnie went on to graduate from Pasadena City College and then become a social worker for the County of Los Angeles.

She later married John Scanlan, together raising their three children Johnna, John and Stephan. Bonnie was a very hands on mom; she passed on her family's love of baseball to her boys, teaching them how to catch. She passed on the importance of community involvement to her children, as Bonnie's mother had to her, serving as Troop Leader during her daughter's days in the Brownies and the Girl Scouts. Bonnie was very proud of her family, especially her grandsons Christopher and Tommy. Perhaps the only love equal to that for her family, baseball and helping others was Bonnie's love for her ancestral homeland of Ireland.

Ownership in a Domino's Pizza brought Bonnie to the community of Echo Park in the late 1980's. Even though Bonnie remained a resident of the nearby city of San Gabriel, she felt that as a business owner in Echo Park she had a responsibility to the community and its people. Bonnie's contributions are countless: helping to organize the Echo Park Pride Day, donating a monthly "Pizza Night" to the Chris Brownlie AIDS Hospice, holding a food drive at her pizza establishment every year during the holidays, feeding hungry police and firefighters during times of tragedy and crisis, and bringing the Los Angeles Philharmonic Musicmobile to the children at Mayberry School. It seems you could always count on her to support any cause that helped young people in the neighborhood and, of course, to dole out those pizzas whenever and wherever the need arose.

In 1998 Bonnie was elected President of the Echo Park Chamber of Commerce, a position she held at the time of her death. She invigorated the Chamber: reviving the community Holiday Parade, instituting the Jackie Finer-Reed Scholarship, starting the Echo Park business district's "Face Lift" program, and organizing the yearly Echo Park Night at Dodger Stadium. And, yes, there were always pizzas at every event.

I feel deeply privileged to have known Bonnie. She was a trusted friend. She was blessed with a kind, honest heart. And, as all who knew her will attest, she spoke her mind. How I miss that. . . .

On December 9, 2001, the community of Echo Park paid tribute to Bonnie Scanlan by dedicating this year's Holiday Parade in her memory. Bonnie served posthumously as Grand Marshal with her family riding the parade route in her stead. The people of Echo Park may not realize it, but Bonnie always felt that the community did more for her than she ever did for the community.

Mr. Speaker, it is with great pride, yet profound sorrow, that I ask my colleagues to join me today in saluting Bonnie Scanlan, an exceptional human being. She left us too soon, with so much to do and so much to say. I will forever remember this beloved friend fondly.

IN HONOR OF AUDREY LEE JACOBS, MBA, JD

HON. EDOLPHUS TOWNS

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mr. TOWNS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in honor of Audrey Lee Jacobs in recognition of her outstanding service to the community.

Audrey Lee Jacobs, MBA, JD is the President and CEO of Lyndon Baines Johnson Health Complex, Inc. In her short tenure, LBJ has made significant gains. Due in large part to Ms. Jacobs' strong business acumen, commitment and leadership, LBJ has earned a 11% increase in patient visits and produced a profit in fiscal year 2000—the first such increases in a number of years; established financial and operational, established a staff development and training program with Medgar Evers College and Wyckoff Heights Medical Center.

This child of Brooklyn's 10th Congressional District, having spent a number of years working throughout the United States for several of the world's largest corporations, is pleased to have returned to serve the community in which she was born. Ms. Jacobs attended the New York City public school system, graduating from Andrew Jackson High School as one of the top students in her class. She attended Vassar College on a full scholarship and majored in psychology.

Along the way, Ms. Jacobs developed a keen interest in business as she watched her entrepreneurial parents establish and run their own small businesses. When asked why she chose a business career, Ms. Jacobs remarked, "I have always found business to be an exciting, challenging and rewarding environment where I could use all of my talents and enjoy myself at the same time". She began her career in marketing working for several multi-national corporations, including Mobil Oil Corporation and AT&T. In 1985, with those experiences under her belt and the desire to expand her knowledge in business, Ms. Jacobs entered one of the top business schools in the country, the University of Texas at Austin. In 1988, when she was awarded the Master in Business Administration degree from the University, she decided to enter a law school instead of immediately re-entering the corporate world. In the fall of 1988, Ms. Jacobs enrolled in the law school of her choice, Columbia University School of Law.

Having studied corporate law, Ms. Jacobs "cut her teeth" at two prestigious Park Avenue law firms. Shortly after receiving the Juris Doctor Degree from Columbia in 1991, Ms. Jacobs joined the mayoral administration of David N. Dinkins. Serving as an assistant to the president of the NYC Health & Hospital Corporation. When the Dinkins administration ended, Ms. Jacobs returned to the practice of law.

Though the years, Ms. Jacobs has been active in the alumni associations of Vassar and Columbia Law School; and she has raised funds for many community and political organizations. She has acted as a mentor to countless youth and has served as a volunteer lawyer with legal clinics representing the poor.

Mr. Speaker, Audrey Lee Jacobs is a Brooklyn success story. She has spent many years building an exemplary academic record and professional career and now she has come home to Brooklyn to share her success with her home community. As such she is more than worthy of receiving this recognition and I urge my colleagues to join me in honoring this truly remarkable woman.

IN HONOR OF JEHNEL DENISE BANNISTER

HON. EDOLPHUS TOWNS

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mr. TOWNS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in honor of Jehnel Denise Bannister in recognition of her religious commitment and service to her community.

Jehnel Denise Bannister was born on January 28, 1967. She was raised by her mother, Dolores Autry, and is the older of two children. She graduated from St. Augustine's College in Raleigh, North Carolina, in 1989 where she received a Bachelor of Science Degree in Business Administration. Jehnel is currently employed as a Vocational/Recreational Counselor for the Project Return Foundations Women's Day Treatment Program.

In 1991, she became a member of the New Canaan Baptist Church under the leadership of Rev. Richard J. Lawson. Jehnel is also very active in her community in many other ways; she is a member of the A.L.C. Coral Ensemble, the Putnam Avenue Block Association, and a supervisor of the Youth United in the Body of Christ (which is a body of young Christians trying to make a difference in her church and her community).

Jehnel enjoys working and making a difference in the lives of young people. She believes that it is important to bridge the gap between the youth and the older members of the church.

Jehnel's favorite scripture is "I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me". (Philippians 4:13)

Jehnel believes that whatever God has for her is for her, so she does not worry about people and circumstances. Jehnel just continues to trust in God.

Mr. Speaker, Jehnel Denise Bannister is a young woman of faith who is committed to her church and her community. As such, I believe that she is more than worthy of receiving our recognition today. I urge my colleagues to join me in honoring this truly spiritual woman.

TRIBUTE TO KENNETH R. KNOX OF GRAND TRUNK WESTERN RAIL-ROAD AND CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

HON. DAVID E. BONIOR

Wednesday, December 12, 2001

Mr. BONIOR. Mr. Speaker, today I rise to recognize Mr. Kenneth R. Knox upon his retirement from the rail industry after 36 years of service to the Grand Trunk Western Railroad and Canadian National Railways. It is truly an honor to thank Mr. Knox for 36 years of hard work and devotion to the railroad industry.

Beginning his career in the railroad industry as a Yard Helper with Grand Trunk Western Railroad in 1965, Mr. Knox immediately began rising up the ladder because of his well-founded knowledge and expertise. Ever misunderstood, the rail industry in the United States is one of the most important vehicles of U.S. commerce and is the remaining connection between our glorious industrial age past and the future of industry in America. I wish to thank Mr. Kenneth Knox for his 36 years of toil and sweat in the rail industry, and I ask that my colleagues join me in wishing Mr. Knox a happy and healthy retirement.

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

COMMENDING THE CONTRIBUTION OF WESTFIELD WORKS WONDERS

HON. JAMES H. MALONEY

OF CONNECTICUT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, December 12, 2001

Mr. MALONEY of Connecticut. Mr. Speaker, it is an honor to bring to the attention of the House of Representatives and the American people an event that will raise money for schools, hospitals and charities in Connecticut. The Westfield Works Wonders charity event took place on November 18, 2001 with the goal of raising $400,000.

This annual event has raised over $1.2 million since its inception four years ago. An event of this magnitude is possible through the cooperation of the four Westfield Shoppingtowns in Enfield, Meriden, Trumbull and Milford. These malls join forces for the event by extending their hours of operation and donating their workforce.

I would like to commend the thousands of workers, volunteers and hundreds of non-profit organizations who serve their community through this event. This event embodies the spirit of community that will see our Nation through this troubling time.

On behalf of the people of Connecticut's 5th District, I congratulate and thank all of the citizens who participate in the Westfield Works Wonders event for the wonderful contributions they have made to our community and country.

DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS AFFAIRS HEALTH CARE

SPEECH OF

HON. TOM UDALL

OF NEW MEXICO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 11, 2001

Mr. UDALL of New Mexico. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of H.R. 3447, the Department of Veterans Affairs Health Care Programs Enhancement Act of 2001. This important legislation makes changes to and additions of several important health benefits for our Nation's veterans.

I would like to thank the Chairman and Ranking Member of the Veterans' Affairs Committee, Mr. SMITH and Mr. EVANS, and the Chairman and Ranking Member of the Health Subcommittee Mr. MORAN and Mr. FILNER, and my colleagues on the Committee for their work on this bill.

Although there are several important health benefit enhancements in this bill, I would like to speak specifically about the provisions regarding VA nurse retention and recruitment, which are taken from a bill that Representatives SUE KELLY, CAROLYN MCCARTHY, MIKE DOYLE, and I introduced on October 3, 2001.

The legislation we introduced, H.R. 3017 the Department of Veterans Affairs Nurse Recruitment and Retention Enhancement Act of 2001, is companion legislation to S. 1188, which was introduced by Senator JAY ROCKEFELLER on July 17, 2001.

S. 1188, H.R. 3017, and now the provisions in H.R. 3347 seek to address the current nursing shortage in the VA health care system, and to ensure that the shortage is not exacerbated.

The provisions in H.R. 3347 modify existing scholarship and debt reduction programs for VA nurses, requires the VA to establish staffing standards at VA health care facilities, makes pay more consistent for various VA health professionals, and rectifies unequal retirement policies to improve retention of nurses in the VA health care system.

This legislation also requires the VA to report to the Committee on Veterans' Affairs regarding VA nursing issues, including the use of overtime by licensed nursing staff and nursing assistants in each facility in order to help determine what can be done to reduce the amount of mandatory overtime.

This legislation is a critical step in addressing the nursing shortage in the VA health care system. I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 3347 and support our VA nurses and health care system, as well as the men and women who have fought for our country and now receive care at these facilities.

TRIBUTE TO CENTRAL ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

HON. HAROLD ROGERS

OF KENTUCKY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, December 12, 2001

Mr. ROGERS of Kentucky. Mr. Speaker, today I want to recognize, and offer my congratulations to, Central Elementary School, located in Paintsville, Kentucky. Earlier this year, students from Central Elementary participated in the national We the People * * * Project Citizen competition in San Antonio, Texas and were awarded honorable mention for their project, Speed Limit Signs. I was very gratified to learn of this and want to take this time to congratulate the teachers and students of Central Elementary affiliated with this program.

They are: Paula Goss, Annette Rouse, Brooke Bergeron, Katie Borders, Kalylia Brachett, Chelsea Burchett, Kelsea Castle, Shaina Kestner, Matthew Oney, Zac Sergent, Brittany Skaggs, Jasmine Watson, Chelsea Webb, and David Zitzelberger.

Project Citizen is a valuable program and I support it. Administered by the Center for Civic Education and funded through the Department of Education, Project Citizen is designed to engage public school students and their teachers and parents in important public policy issues. During competitions, students select an issue, study its affect on local communities, and share their findings. Schools invited to participate at the national conference won their state competitions.

Mr. Speaker, civic education and participation in the democratic process is vital to the stability of our Nation, and we must encourage people of all age groups, especially young students, to assume a role in local, state, and federal affairs. We the People * * * Project Citizen fosters this, and I hope the more schools will decide to participate in this program. Again, I want to congratulate the students and teachers of Central Elementary.

They and all participants deserve our thanks and respect.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. TERRY EVERETT

OF ALABAMA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, December 12, 2001

Mr. EVERETT. Mr. Speaker, last Thursday, family illness necessitated my return to Alabama. Thus, I was unable to vote during roll-call No. 482 (On Agreeing to the Conference Report for the District of Columbia Appropriations for Fiscal Year 2001, HR 2944). Had I been present, I would have voted "no."

TRIBUTE TO THE MICHIGAN CHRONICLE 65TH ANNIVERSARY

HON. DAVID E. BONIOR

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, December 12, 2001

Mr. BONIOR. Mr. Speaker, today I rise to recognize the Michigan Chronicle, which celebrated its 65th Anniversary on Friday, September 21, 2001. Truly a milestone occasion, 2001 marks 65 years of outstanding commitment to its readership and dedicated journalism.

Pioneered from the Detroit edition of the famous Chicago Defender, the Michigan Chronicle has come to signify excellence in African-American journalism in its 65 years of commitment to the African-American community in Michigan.

Printed for the first time in 1936, as part of the Chicago Defender, the paper gained immediate importance in the African-American community and became an institution in Detroit. Independently established from the Chicago Defender in 1937, the paper's first editor, Louis Martin, created the cornerstone of excellent journalism, with just under 1000 paid subscriptions that year. The paper, not seen by many as respectable journalism, was building interest in the community and became known as "the colored paper." Soon after, paid subscriptions grew to 15,000 in 1940, 25,000 in 1944, and to today's readership of 47,000. In 1984, Sam Logan was named Vice President and General Manager of the Michigan Chronicle. His ingenuity took the paper to new heights, moving the paper to the four color format and computer-based journalism.

Longworth Quinn became the General Manager in 1944, and eventually was promoted to publisher of the ever-growing Michigan Chronicle. He dedicated his life to the paper and the communities it represents and informs, training young journalists to follow in his footsteps. He served at the helm for 42 years until his passing. This year, the Longworth M. Quinn Community Service Award will be presented to an individual in the Detroit Metro area that embodies Mr. Quinn's commitment to community, diversity, and serving the public through volunteerism.

Dedicated to helping promising scholars, the Michigan Chronicle will also be a proud sponsor of the John H.H. Sengstacke Scholarship Award. This award will be given to an outstanding high school student in Wayne, Oakland, or Macomb County to help in the pursuit of a journalism degree.

Today the Michigan Chronicle is making new headway under publisher Alisa M. Giddens. I believe she has the vision to expand readership, help end racial prejudice, and provide true public service through journalism to the African-American communities in Michigan. I ask that all my colleagues join me in celebrating the Michigan Chronicle's 65 years of journalistic excellence.

PAYING TRIBUTE TO DIANA STOUT

HON. MIKE ROGERS

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, December 12, 2001

Mr. ROGERS of Michigan. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Ms. Diana Stout of Charleston, West Virginia for being elected the National President of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Since 1914, the Ladies Auxiliary VFW represents the families of those who have sacrificed for our country. The organization fosters our American heritage by conducting an annual patriotic ceremony and providing financial assistance for the preservation of this nation's most treasured symbol of freedom, the Statue of Liberty.

In her acceptance speech, Ms. Stout introduced her theme, Liberty and Justice for All, which is derived from her background in law and one of the Auxiliary's main objects, to maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom and equal rights and justice to all men and women.

During her 2001-02 term office, Ms. Stout will be advocating the programs of the Ladies Auxiliary, including the raising of $3 million for the Auxiliary Cancer Aid and Research program for the 14th consecutive year, assisting veterans and their families and volunteering in our communities.

As a charter Member of the Sperry-Davis Auxiliary to VFW Post 9151 of Salem, West Virginia she joined on the eligibility of her father, Thair Stout, who served in World War II. Stout was named Outstanding State President when she served in that capacity in 1986-87 and has served a total of seven terms as Auxiliary President and two terms as District President.

Stout was appointed to serve as State Secretary for three years and was elected to represent West Virginia and Virginia on the National Council of Administration. She was national chairman for the Southern Conference on the Publicity and Legislative programs and in 1988-89 she served as National Legislative Director.

After working as a secondary school mathematics teacher, she decided to attend West Virginia University College of Law and is currently employed as the General Counsel of the Treasurer's Office for the State of West Virginia. She belongs to the American Bar Association, the West Virginia Bar Association, the

December 12, 2001

National Association of Bond Lawyers, and the Laudati Honor Society.

Therefore Mr. Speaker, I respectfully ask my colleagues to join me in paying tribute to Ms. Diana Stout for her election of National President of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

IN HONOR OF DENISE PETERSON-PENDARVIS

HON. EDOLPHUS TOWNS

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, December 12, 2001

Mr. TOWNS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in honor of Denise Peterson-Pendarvis in recognition of her long term commitment to her community.
